Sheriff Arrests 3 Men

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff arrested three county men over the weekend involved in 27 acts of vandalism occurring July 15 and 16. Presently charged with aggravated burglary are, Benjamin Elroy Sines, 21, Derby; Charles Aron Thacker, 19, Orient and Billy Richard Sines, 23, Derby.

The trio was involved in the destruction of mailboxes, criminal damaging and the deliberate driving of a motor vehicle through two cornfields, causing $300 damage, in a 12-mile radius from Derby to Grange Hill. The threesome also confessed to three other offenses near the 3-C Highway which had not been reported to Pickaway Authorities.

Radcliff charged the men with the July 13 burglary of the John Neff residence on Hitler Road No. 1 where $120 was taken.

"We look to clear up 40 reported cases, with these arrests, involving mailbox and road sign damages and thefts," Radcliff said.

The three were also involved in numerous thefts of gasoline in the Derby area, the July 19 windshield and tire damage to the Troy McPherson truck and the July 9 break-in at the Trapper John's Livery.

Appearing in Municipal Court today before acting Judge Roger Bennington, the trio waived preliminary hearings with bonds set at $10,000 each and were bound to grand jury.

In a separate case, two-14-year-old boys were arrested by Detective Don Thompson in the theft at the Everett Blanton residence.

The boys were each charged with aggravated burglary and petit theft.

The Southwest and the East braced for more torrential rain today following downpours and thunderstorms Sunday that caused flash flooding and mud slides. Sixteen persons were injured when lightning struck a picnic in Virginia.

Thundershowers over the Rockies poured 2½ inches of rain near Alpine, Colo. Roads near the Big Bend National Park in Texas were covered by flash flooding.

Heavy rains caused mud slides in Pennsylvania, where a 12 mile stretch of the Pennsylvania Turnpike between the Reading and Morgantown interchanges for two hours Sunday night. There were several minor accidents but no injuries, a Turnpike spokesman said.

Sixteen persons were struck by lightning, seriously injuring Herbert L. Beury, 55, when a thunderstorm passed over a picnic at a private home in Annandale, Va. Witnesses said a bolt of lightning hit a 40-foot maple tree Sunday in the back yard of a neighbor, knocking unconscious several friends and relatives gathered under an awning.

A hospital spokesman said 13 other victims were treated for small burns and other minor injuries and released. Hail the size of golf balls was reported in Alpena, Mich.

There also were scattered thundershowers in the Great Lakes Region and the Ohio River to the Gulf Coast. Parts of South Carolina, Georgia, Missouri were hit by drenching rains.

New York City's LaGuardia Airport was inundated with 2½ inches of rain. Winds of 58 miles per hour were registered during a rain storm at upstate Watertown, N.Y.

Pope Paul VI Praises Spacemen

CASTLE GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Like millions of others around the globe, Pope Paul VI says he watched the Apollo-Soyuz space flight on television and scanned the night sky in the vain hope of seeing the space vehicles.

The pontiff told 5,000 people gathered Sunday at the papal summer retreat on this hilltop near Rome:

"We, too, our eyes dazzled by sky light or wide open toward the depth of nighttime space ... will shout out long live the heroic men of such fantastic feat ...

"Man has won and we cannot refrain from foretelling more wonderful advances in the dominance of nature beyond the heavenly sphere. Man will win."

Weather

Mostly sunny today and Tuesday, high both days, mid 80s. Clear tonight, low, mid 60s. Probability of precipitation, zero per cent today, tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Sunday were: high, 82; low, 67.

Soyuz Craft Lands Safely

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soyuz cosmonauts, partners in history's first international space mission, blazed safely back to earth today, parachuting to a pinpoint landing on a flat, featureless plain in their homeland.

They left the Apollo astronauts behind in space for three more days of exploration.

Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov rode their spaceship, dangling under a single red and white parachute to a touchdown, or a "thumpdown" as newsmen here dubbed it, at 6:51 a.m. EDT.

For the first time, the world had a televised look at the landing of a Soviet spacecraft. TV cameras mounted in helicopters picked up the Soyuz as it descended from the skies toward the plain in south central Russia, about 300 miles east of the Baikonur Cosmodrome, where they were launched last Tuesday.

About eight feet above the surface, small braking rockets fired downward to cushion the landing, stirring up a great quantity of dust.

Within 30 seconds a helicopter had landed beside the bellshaped Soyuz and a team of rescue workers walked across the plain towards the capsule.

Within one minute, they had begun to remove the hatch.

Just two minutes after the landing, Leonov and Kubasov stepped from the spaceship in their white spacesuits and both gave bearhugs to the rescue workers and waved at cameramen.

Doctors at the scene reported both were in "very good condition."

Mission Control reported they landed just 6.2 miles from the intended landing point.

Ten minutes after landing the cosmonauts were taken to a helicopter for transport to a nearby medical facility.

The astronauts, Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton, are to splashdown in the Pacific on Thursday.

The astronauts were still asleep at the time of the Soyuz landing, with their spaceship drifting along 135 miles above the Pacific south of Japan.

A short time later Houston mission control awakened them with the word of the successful Soyuz landing.

"Very, very good, give them my best. Glad everything went good," Commander Stafford said.

Stafford, Brand and Slayton will remain aloft until Thursday to conduct earth observation, solar astronomy and other scientific experiments.

The Americans are able to stay up longer because of the greater fuel and life support capacity of their spaceship.

Apollo and Soyuz separated Saturday after two days of tandem flight that raised detente to a new plateau, tested a common docking device that might be used in space rescue missions and perhaps opened an era in which the world's two most powerful nations will cooperate to probe space out to the planets.

Leonov and Kubasov were anxious to come home as they neared the end of their journey.

"When you travel around the earth you finally come home, you finally realize how good it is," Soyuz commander Leonov said Sunday.

Apollo and Soyuz drifted farther and farther apart and on Sunday passed out of radio range.

"We lost them. We don't hear from them anymore," Soyuz reported.

But the cosmonauts did speak by radio with other space travelers. They talked about two minutes with the crew of the Salyut 4 space station, Pyotr Klimuk and Vitaly Sevastyanov, who wished them a "soft landing."

Klimuk and Sevastyanov, who have been in space since May 26, are expected to return to earth later in the week.

Aboard Apollo, Stafford, Brand and Slayton concentrated on a heavy schedule of experiments.

"Today seems more like a normal workday than the other five," commander Stafford said Sunday, referring to the time leading up to and including the joint mission with the Soviets.

Among ground targets for Apollo's earth resources survey cameras were the Sahara desert, ice floes in Antarctica, ocean currents off the coast of South America, the Alpine peaks of Europe and the salt flats of Australia.

The astronauts also aimed instruments deep into space to probe faint pinpoints of invisible light millions of miles from earth.

A high temperature furnace was fired up on board Apollo and the crew melted samples of metal to test the effects of casting in the absence of gravity.

Postal Agreement Reached

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new labor agreement for the nation's postal workers is expected to contribute to an increase in the cost of mailing a letter before the end of the year.

The new contract, tentatively agreed to early today, averted the possibility of a strike by the nation's 600,000 postal workers. Details of the settlement were not announced but the postal unions won one major victory, retention of a no-layoff clause.

"The wages which we pay postal workers is one element of our costs. They're going to go up," Bailar said at a news conference at which the settlement was announced. Labor-related costs are 85 per cent of the Postal Service's costs.

Bailar also said that the Postal Service expects to lose $800 million dollars in the fiscal year that began July 1. He said the Postal Service needs higher rates to start breaking even.

"I'm certain there will be (postal rate) increases before the end of the year," Bailar said. The largest possible increase would be to 13 cents per first-class letter.

The Postal Service in 1973 asked the independent Postal Rate Commission to make present postal rates permanent. The commission is expected to approve a schedule of permanent postal rates within a few months, and the Postal Service then can raise the rates by instituting new temporary rates.

The average postal clerk, postman or pick-up truck driver now makes about $13,500-a-year at top scale, plus fringe benefits.

And Choate is a retired Air Force officer who has been involved more recently with several "citizens action" groups including Americans for the Presidency, which he said tried "to keep Mr. Nixon from being unjustly dealt with" during the Watergate scandals.

Callaway, whose initial task is to win Ford the backing of conservatives who might otherwise gravitate to former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, last week hired two top aides.

They are Robert Visser, 35, as general counsel, a lawyer formerly with the New York and Washington firm that once included both Nixon and 1972 campaign manager John N. Mitchell.

The second is Judy Harbaugh as director of administration. She worked at the Republican National Committee for Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who was national chairman during the 1972 campaign, and for Anne Armstrong, his top deputy and later a presidential counselor.

Mimi Austin, who is Callaway's assistant, said a political director to take charge of the Ford delegate hunt will be named shortly.

Besides those occupied full time on the campaign, a group headed by former National Chairman Dean Burch is continuing to function as an advisory panel, with no pay other than expenses.

Burch, who was the top White House political adviser in the late Nixon and early Ford days, had said he would be unable to take a fulltime role in the Ford campaign.

Chief federal mediator W. J. Usery Jr. called the labor settlement "a victory for collective bargaining, a victory for the postal unions and a victory for the Postal Service."

Usery said ratification by all of the four postal unions would take "upwards of 30 days."

Rhodes-Demo Confrontation Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first major confrontation between Gov. James A. Rhodes and House Democrats is set for Wednesday when majority members will attempt to override nine line-item budget vetoes.

"I have the 59 votes on all of them," House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said of the Democratic delegation. But he needs 60.

Riffe is not sure of the single Republican vote needed for the three-fifths majority required to bypass the governor.

Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, said GOP representatives would vote to sustain Rhodes' vetoes on most of the issues, but conceded some areas were still open to review.

Meanwhile, Democrats in the Senate, which returns to the Statehouse today, are faced with Rhodes' veto of a major energy bill, authored in the upper chamber. Senate Democrats hold a 21-12 majority, one over the required three-fifths.

One of the items targeted for the override attempt in the House is a $4 million appropriation that was earmarked to fund the Senate bill to create a state energy agency.

Republican support on that issue was considered unlikely. But some GOP legislators will be hard pressed to vote against a continuation of the tuition freeze at state-assisted universities or a special $10 million subsidy for the University of Cincinnati. Rhodes vetoed both sections of the budget.

In a related move, the Democratic-controlled House State Government Committee will consider three resolutions Tuesday, weighing constitutional questions on other Rhodes vetoes.

The resolutions, offered by Speaker Pro Tem Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, would request an opinion from the attorney general on a veto submitted by Rhodes a day after he filed 71 other line-item rejections with the secretary of state.

The Democrats would also ask Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat, whether Rhodes vetoed the State Controlling Board out of existence, at least temporarily. A Monday meeting of the watchdog finance agency was canceled, presumably because of confusion over its status.

Democrats will also seek to restore these areas to the budget by the Wednesday vote:

"We still have a lot of work to do. We have a lot of language to clean up. But an agreement has been reached and we have had a handshake on it," Usery said.

The negotiations continued more than two hours past the expiration at midnight Sunday of the old two-year contract. Union leaders had instructed members not to leave their jobs while negotiations continued past midnight, and there were no reports of job actions.

The Postal Service had said federal troops might have been used to move the mails if there had been a strike.

Patty Hearst Book May Be Blocked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Patricia Hearst's mother says she will protect her kidnapped daughter from defamatory publicity, even if it means legal action against Miss Hearst's former fiancé, Steven Weed.

The 27-year-old Weed says he has completed two-thirds of a book about Miss Hearst, her kidnapping and the effort to get her back. He said he doesn't now have a publisher for the book, but hopes to finish it in time to resume his graduate studies in philosophy at the University of California in Berkeley.

"I hope there is nothing negative in the book," Catherine Hearst said in a weekend telephone interview. "I wouldn't imagine that there would be."

Asked if she would take action against Weed if she felt material in the book would be defamatory, Mrs. Hearst replied, "I'm considering defending Patty and if that involves legal action, we'll certainly do that." But she said that she currently was not considering any action to block Weed's book.

"How could I? I don't even know what is in the book," she said.

The Chicago Tribune reported Sunday that Weed said he was on "good terms" with the Hearsts until a magazine article appeared written by a former collaborator of his on the book.

The article detailed the couple's three-year-old love affair before Miss Hearst was kidnapped and told of the couple's use of drugs and other intimate details of their life together.

The newspaper said after a lengthy court battle, Weed has severed all connections with his collaborator.

Mrs. Hearst said she feared that any detrimental publicity about her 21-year-old fugitive daughter might hurt her defense in a future trial. After her kidnapping Feb. 4, 1974, Miss Hearst renounced her parents and reported that she had joined her captors, the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She later was accused of participating in a bank robbery and the FBI has been seeking her and two SLA companions, Emily and William Harris, since they eluded police after a shootout in Los Angeles in which six SLA members were slain.

"I know the Hearsts are not happy with me for writing a book but I find it hard to believe they would take any sort of legal action to stop publication of it," Weed said.

Mrs. Hearst said there was tension between the family and Weed over his planned book. "Naturally, there would be," she said. "I don't think he should make a financial advantage of Patty."

Klan Director Talks On Racism

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — The national director of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan held a news conference in this Western Kentucky city Sunday and told a small audience that most politicians use racial issues as stepping stones to further their careers.

David E. Duke, who also is Grand Dragon of the Klan in Louisiana, made his third appearance in Kentucky in as many days. He spoke in Verda Saturday night at a rally which ended when a cross was burned.

On Friday night, he addressed an audience of some 300 persons attending an antibusing rally at a suburban Louisville motel.

Duke said the Klan is growing in Western Kentucky and that "the people are responding well" to his visits around the state. He criticized the federal government and said most legislation dealing with racial integration is submitted by "revolutionaries."

MADTOM COUNTRY—Dr. Milton Trautman, professor emeritus of zoology at Ohio State University and author of a definitive book on 166 species of fish in Ohio waters, is fighting to save the madtom catfish from extinction. According to Dr.

Election Campaign Has Military Tinge

WASHINGTON (AP) — In contrast with the lawyers and advertising men who ran the 1972 Nixon campaign, the high command of President Ford's developing political organization has a distinct Pentagon tinge.

All three top men in the campaign fundraising operation served in the Pentagon under Ford's old friend, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. And the campaign manager, former Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, is a West Point graduate who was Army secretary for the past two years.

"People say we've got a little Pentagon going over here," executive director Lee Choate of Ford's finance committee said in an interview. "At least, we all speak the same language."

The finance division, which has already raised $267,000 in the less than two weeks since Ford declared his 1976 candidacy, is headed by David Pack-

"How could I? I don't even know what is in the book," she said.

The Chicago Tribune reported Sunday that Weed said he was on "good terms" with the Hearsts until a magazine article appeared written by a former collaborator of his on the book.

The article detailed the couple's three-year-old love affair before Miss Hearst was kidnapped and told of the couple's use of drugs and other intimate details of their life together.

The newspaper said after a lengthy court battle, Weed has severed all connections with his collaborator.

Mrs. Hearst said she feared that any detrimental publicity about her 21-year-old fugitive daughter might hurt her defense in a future trial. After her kidnapping Feb. 4, 1974, Miss Hearst renounced her parents and reported that she had joined her captors, the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She later was accused of participating in a bank robbery and the FBI has been seeking her and two SLA companions, Emily and William Harris, since they eluded police after a shootout in Los Angeles in which six SLA members were slain.

"I know the Hearsts are not happy with me for writing a book but I find it hard to believe they would take any sort of legal action to stop publication of it," Weed said.

Mrs. Hearst said there was tension between the family and Weed over his planned book. "Naturally, there would be," she said. "I don't think he should make a financial advantage of Patty."

Klan Director Talks On Racism

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — The national director of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan held a news conference in this Western Kentucky city Sunday and told a small audience that most politicians use racial issues as stepping stones to further their careers.

David E. Duke, who also is Grand Dragon of the Klan in Louisiana, made his third appearance in Kentucky in as many days. He spoke in Verda Saturday night at a rally which ended when a cross was burned.

On Friday night, he addressed an audience of some 300 persons attending an antibusing rally at a suburban Louisville motel.

Duke said the Klan is growing in Western Kentucky and that "the people are responding well" to his visits around the state. He criticized the federal government and said most legislation dealing with racial integration is submitted by "revolutionaries."

MADTOM COUNTRY—Dr. Milton Trautman, professor emeritus of zoology at Ohio State University and author of a definitive book on 166 species of fish in Ohio waters, is fighting to save the madtom catfish from extinction. According to Dr.

Trautman, the fish is found only in a small area of Darby Creek near Fox and none has been caught since 1957. The picture of Darby was taken from the Florence Bridge at Fox (see story, page 4).

Midwest Governors Open Conference

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Chided by charges that it has been unproductive in the past, the 14th annual Midwest Governors Conference opened a three-day session today with economic problems topping the agenda.

Most of the 11 governors who arrived for the 15-state conference were critical of Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll's boycott and subsequent attack on the conference.

Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon questioned Carroll's motives.

"It's good for political consumption back home, but doesn't do anything to solve problems," said the Nebraska Democrat. "It's easy to stick your head in the sand."

"They (conferences) are only as useful as the governors want them to be," said South Dakota Gov. Richard F. Kneip, also a Democrat, who was to chair the second half of today's session, dealing with the economy.

Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, chairman of the conference, said he plans to propose some changes in the MGC. However, most governors agreed that talking over common problems is useful.

Minnesota Gov. Wendell R. Anderson did offer one suggestion.

"I feel we should spend less time on things which become political in nature," Anderson said. "I have profited more from an exchange of ideas with my colleagues. Resolutions do not change overnight the course of events."

The governors' schedule the first two days will include discussions of inflation, joblessness, the need for more state and less federal help to industry, health planning and energy.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller is to address the group Tuesday morning. Donald Rumsfeld, assistant to President Gerald R. Ford, speaks at the final session Wednesday.

The governors will be asked to consider a number of resolutions upon which there is already some difference of opinion.

Kansas Gov. Robert F. Bennett said he wants federal controls lifted on both fuel oil and natural gas, but by degrees to avoid skyrocketing prices.

The energy task force resolution calls for deregulation of natural gas development with accompanying tax breaks for pumping money back into new development. However, the resolution also calls for continued regulation of gasoline and fuel oils.

Other resolutions include guaranteeing federal funds for state and interstate road building and maintenance under the Federal Highway Transit fund. A similar resolution calls for simplifying all applications, particularly those of the Federal Urban Mass Transit, for new development.

Several resolutions involve Indian problems, request funds for Indian police training schools and allowing the states to work with Indian programs on a local level.

Portuguese Crisis Still Unresolved

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist leaders stepped up their campaign of support today for Premier Vasco Goncalves who predicted he would form a new government by the end of the week and sweep away the crisis that has brought on demands he resign.

Goncalves told a Lisbon newspaper the new government would be one of "national unity" without political partisanship.

The army general pointedly ignored demands by the nation's biggest party, the Socialists, that he quit the military-dominated government he has led for the past year.

And if he was informed of Socialist party leader Mario Soares' announcement that the Socialists would return to the government only if Goncalves resigned, the premier gave no indication of it.

Soares announced his terms for ending Portugal's governmental crisis at a rally in Lisbon on Sunday attended by more than 50,000 Socialists. They cheered and chanted "Out With Vasco!" when Soares declared that the country was being turned into a concentration camp.

The rally climaxed a weekend of clashes between Socialists and Communists in which two persons died and about 40 were injured.

Today the armed forces' chief political and propaganda section, the 5th Division, called for fresh pledges of support for the Communist-oriented premier.

Con Artists Arrested

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pair of alleged con artists were behind bars Sunday after law enforcement officials in West Virginia sniffed out two different, but apparently effective, scalping schemes.

Police in Martinsburg, W.Va., are holding Byron Richardson, 43, of Baltimore, Md., on charges that he obtained money under false pretenses by passing himself off as country and western singer Ray Price.

Howard Glenn Willford, 22, of Fayetteville, N.C., is being held in Ashland, Ky. after allegedly debunking two West Virginia banks and another in Ohio. He was apprehended after West Virginia authorities alerted police in neighboring states.

Willford allegedly entered the banks dressed in a tuxedo, said he was about to be married but was short of money, and wrote cold checks drawn on a Hagerstown, Md. bank account.

Richardson reportedly obtained $200 from Elizabeth Whitacre of Martinsburg after introducing himself as Ray Price. He told her he was temporarily short of cash and asked her to cash a check for him on her bank account.

Friends may call at the funeral home 7-9 p.m. Monday and all day Tuesday.

Hearing Held On Road Name Changes

The main action of the county commissioners weekly meeting Monday was the approving of four road name changes. A public hearing was held for the changes and there was no opposition to the proposed names. Commissioners Robert Liston, Dick Tootle and Donald Strous accepted the proposed shortened names. The idea behind these changes is so that county mailing addresses will not be too long when the new house numbers become effective on the respective roads.

The shortened names are Belles Station-Fairfield Road to Bell Station Road, East Ringgold Northern Road to Ringgold Northern Road, East Ringgold Southern Road to Ringgold Southern Road and Circleville-Tarlton Northern Road to Old Tarlton Pike.

The commissioners also discussed plans for the organization of a public sale of old equipment that belongs to the county.

Band radios and a tape player from locked vehicles and four separate acts of vandalism to other cars.

Russell White, 163 Caroline Court, told police that vandals apparently used a wire to force open the right wing window of his truck Saturday.

Once inside, they removed the bolts from a mounting bracket and cut the wires in taking a Fannon C.B. outfit valued at $125.

The right door wing window of a car owned by Charles Stout, Apartment 6, 104 Gale Court, was opened in the same manner by thieves Saturday to take a Realistic C.B. unit valued at $109.95.

Thieves forced open the sliding rear cab window of a pickup truck owned by Don Price, 225 S. Washington St., Sunday between 9 and 11:40 p.m. to take a Royce C.B. outfit and a book of Pickaway County Fair tickets.

Robert Cullums, 603 S. Court St., told officers that thieves entered his locked car, parked on W. Corwin St., Saturday or Sunday, to take $84.95 worth of merchandise.

Included in the theft were a tape player, five tapes, and a tachometer.

Ruth Andrews, 135 W. High St., and Mrs. Donald Thompson, Route 3, told police that vandals sprayed green paint on their cars while they were parked at the Berger Hospital parking lot Friday between 3 and 11:30 p.m.

John Grabill, 904 S. Court St., complained that vandals put two scratches on the left door of his car Friday night, damaging the metal work of the vehicle.

Randy Tatman, an employee of Jim Houseman Ford, 596 N. Court St., told police that vandals applied black spray paint to a new car that was sitting in the lot.

Virginia Bacon, 693 Fairlawn Ave., and Steve Brudzinski, 220 Walnut Creek Pike, told officers that thieves took mailboxes from in front of their houses Saturday or Sunday.

A pair of Chicago roller skates, valued at $125, were taken from a car owned by Wilma Smith, 213 Town St. The theft occurred about a month ago, she said.

Gary Bigham, Route 3, told police that thieves entered an unlocked storage shed in the rear of his trailer to take two fiberglass fishing rods, a Zebco 202 reel, and a tackle box Saturday or Sunday.

Vandals kicked a panel from a locked door behind Giovanni's Pizza, according to employee Mike Anderson. The damage occurred Friday at 7:25 p.m.

Three local youths were arrested for shoplifting 1:58 p.m. Saturday at Buckeye Mart.

Store employees Randy Anderson and Clayton Wise detained the youths for police, who charged them and released them to their parents.

Rosie Burchet, 124 S. Scioto St., told police that she was walking through the parking lot behind Penny's 2:05 p.m. Sunday when a youth ran from behind her and pulled her purse from her hand.

The youth ran through the alley beside Lindsey's Bake Shop, according to witnesses, and joined with another juvenile. They ran east on Main St.

Thieves Take Auto Parts, Mini-Bike

Pickaway County Sheriff's Auxiliary Deputy R. L. Woodward investigated a report of a break-in at the Dave Sherman residence, Route 1, Amanda.

Reported by his mother, she told Authorities that the thieves entered the open garage sometime between 3 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday, taking numerous auto parts.

Value of the parts was set at $295. Thieves cut a cable to enable them to take a mini-bike from the front yard of the Donald Holland residence at the Lockbourne Lodge, Lockbourne.

According to the report taken by Deputy J. Phillip Brown, the bike taken between 11 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday was locked to a tree at the residence.

The bike was valued at $200.

Abortion Question Being Pondered

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The West Virginia Board of Regents met today to decide if the West Virginia University Medical Center must offer abortions.

The meeting was ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Robert Maxwell, who ordered the regents to allow abortions at the Morgantown facility. Maxwell's order was based on two U.S. Supreme Court decisions legalizing abortions during the first three months of pregnancy.

The district court ruling arose from a suit brought by a Morgantown woman who said the state Welfare Department had agreed to pay for her abortion but that no hospitals in the state perform such surgery.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1973 that states were not allowed to forbid abortions in the first three months of a woman's pregnancy.

Inflation Tax

Inflation might be better understood if it were referred to as a tax — a tax which is hidden many ways, but a tax nonetheless. If the inflation rate for 1975 should turn out to be 8 per cent, and it could be higher, the person with an income of $10,000 will have his income taxed by inflation to the extent of $800.

By any standards that ranks as a heavy tax. It means workers have to run 8 per cent faster, in terms of income, just to stand still. Many millions of workers and retirees are not able to run that fast.

In their cases inflation means a lower standard of living. That is another way of measuring the inflation tax. Understanding the undermining influence of inflation makes it easier to understand what Sen. Bill Brock of Tennessee had to say about inflation to the Taft Institute for Political Science.

The tax rebate of up to $200 received by American families this year, the senator said, could cost those same families between $120 and $160

a year for the rest of their lives. Brock was referring to the huge federal deficit which has been amassed in the last few years, to the extent that the interest alone on the national debt next year will be about $40 billion.

That interest has to be paid year after year and on an ascending scale, until the nation decides to tighten its belt sufficiently not only to eliminate further deficits but begin paying back monies borrowed earlier.

Sen. Brock summed up this year's tax rebates — popular though they were — this way: "I think the Congress decided they had themselves one honey of a political device — cut taxes and raise spending and everybody would love them."

Until next year's inflation tax is presented for payment.

Witness . . . The news ticker was brief: "Donna Angerami, 14, of 356 Carr Ave., Keansburg, N.J., was hit by a car and injured as she was riding a bicycle home last night. The young girl was taken to Riverview Hospital in Red Bank with multiple injuries."

Witness, her mother, Mrs. Goerge Angerami, in tears: "Oh, my God! Donna? I don't believe it. She and Debbie rode their bikes to Sears to get a blouse. They turned off Route 35 onto Palmer Avenue. Oh, my God! How do I get to the hospital? How is she?"

Witness, Debbie: "We were on the way home. We were laughing and talking. This woman came up behind us fast. We didn't even know an automobile was there."

"The bike made a screeching sound. Donna was lying on the road. She wasn't crying. She wasn't moving either. Some man came out of a brown house. He phoned for an ambulance."

"People came out and tried to lift Donna's head. There was some blood and one leg hung funny. I was scared. The ambulance men tried to speak to Donna but her eyes were closed."

Witness, emergency room physician: "This child is going to need a neurosurgeon. Phone Doctor L. Donahue at home. See if he can get down here at once. Also phone Dr. Charles Kelly. He's the family doctor. This kid has a broken leg, but she's got a lot more."

Keansburg policeman: "She seemed small for 14. A sweet-looking kid with black curly hair and dark complexion. What can I tell you? The mother is alone. She has three growing children."

Hospital phone operator: "No visitors. The Angerami girl is in intensive care. Yes, over a week. Condition critical."

Doctor, on phone: "She has been in a coma over two weeks. No, we can't make a prognosis. Her vital signs are stable. One leg is broken in three places. The family should be told to expect brain damage. Who knows? She may come out of it tomorrow, and then again . . ."

Local reporter: "A bad scene. The father left the mother, Joan, and George, Donna and Stephen. Joan tried to bring them up. Got a job as waitress. Skidded and fell on wet marble floor. Permanent back injury. "Couldn't find husband. Slipped down and down. Family now on welfare. No car. No money. Friends drive the mother to hospital twice a day. Father arrived from another state. Visited hospital. Spoke to mother. Left. Had to get back to work."

Witness, nurse: "She lays there like a little doll. We take turns stroking her cheek. Sometimes the eyes flutter. It's been almost a month. Such a sweet face."

Witness, Grandmother Anna: "I just can't believe all that hard luck." Bursts into tears. "I'm, sorry. You have children, you do your best. God, how many things have gone wrong with Joan. Poor little Donna. John and I were on vacation when it happened."

"We drove up from Florida. We just wanted to see the grandchildren. Then this happened. If you could see how quiet she is in that hospital bed. She has good color — red lips and all. I spoke to her. I even pinched her cheeks. Nothing. She's in a deep, deep sleep."

Witness, grandfather: "What could we do? We went up to see her every day. They wouldn't even let us send flowers. Joan talks and smiles around the house. Then, out of left field, she starts to sob. What could we do? We drove home to Florida."

Man Leads Fight To Save Madtom

FOX, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Milton B. Trautman is fighting to save the madtom, if he isn't too late. It may already have gone the way of the dinosaur and dodo.

He also is fighting to save its home, Big Darby Creek.

"Some of us believe that we have no right to eliminate an animal," the 76-year-old fish expert says. "The madtom is a symbol."

The madtom is—or was—a tiny type of catfish he discovered Nov. 4, 1943, in a mitesized section of the Big Darby near this community 25 miles south of Columbus.

Scientifically a Noturus Trautmani, the fish takes its colloquial name from a sac of poison that lies under a spine on its back. It can deliver the effect of a bee's sting.

Only 17 have been found, Trautman having caught all but two of them. The largest was 2.2 inches long.

Trautman, professor emeritus of zoology at Ohio State University and a curator of its museum as well as author of a definitive book on the 166 species of fish in Ohio waters, says he isn't sure the madtom is extinct even though the last seen was in 1957.

"There may be a goodly population doing fine somewhere else," he said as he shifted his feet in the center of a 15-foot-square area of the Big Darby, the at Waikiki Motel: "I tell you, people are so darned nice. Mr. Richard Rubin the manager heard about Donna and he asked me what I was going to do for her. I said, nothing, except has a mass said. He said, 'Let me know how much a month full of masses cost and I'll give it to you.'"

"Isn't that something?" Witness, Grandma Anna, two days later: "Mr. Rubin came over to the switchboard again. He said he was thinking about Donna. He said if I want to fly north to see her, he'd pay my air fare and I would be on full salary. Know something? It takes hard luck to find the solid gold people . . ."

Witness, Doctor Donahue: "No change. The nurses put Donna's hair up in little pigtails. Her mother said Donna doesn't like pigtails. This morning a nurse found one of the pigtails undone."

"She tried to put it back up. Donna put a hand on her head, covering the loose pigtail. Does it mean anything? I wish I knew."

entire known range of the madtom.

"I think there's a greater chance of an automobile coming down stream and hitting us from behind than there is of catching a madtom," he said, hauling on a four-foot seine. "That's why, when I'm working the stream, I always look behind me."

In April the U.S. Department of the Interior proposed the fish be added to the list of endangered and threatened wildlife, setting today as the deadline for receiving suggestions, objections and facts pertinent to the proposal.

And because of the madtom as well as both other wildlife and people themselves, Trautman opposes plans for two dams on the stream.

"This is a moral obligation which has been clouded by economics," he says. "The loss of another species is not going to affect the people of the U.S. But we have to stop somewhere. So why not stop with this fish?"

He is a Republican fighting a Republican state administration, saying he is "thoroughly against" Gov. James A. Rhodes. "There is no necessity to dam that creek," he says.

"I like to think that 10,000 years from now, somebody would stand in this stream and enjoy it as I do," he says, adding that it, "besides being marvelously scenic, has the largest variety of habitats of any stream in Ohio."

He has identified 91 species of fish in one mile-long section, and he says that although some species have invaded state waters in recent years, there are fewer species in the state now overall than there were 50 years ago.

"It all reverts to too many people doing too many things," he says.

State Earns High Interest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — High interest rates helped the state earn a record $90 million on its investments during the 1975 fiscal year.

State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey said Friday soaring interest rates "contributed substantially" to the $16 million rise over fiscal 1974 earnings.

"Both years were record income years in the history of this office," Mrs. Donahey said. "The bulk of these earnings becomes a part of the state's budget to provide services for our citizens."

Total revenue from 18 tax sources for fiscal 1975 was reported at $2.9 billion. Total tax income for the biennium was $5.6 billion, the treasurer said.

Ohioans paid $536 million in state income tax in fiscal 1975 and just over $1 billion for the biennium, according to the treasurer.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

body organs to revert to near their normal state.

My wife has endometriosis. She accepts her condition, but lives in terror that this may develop into a cancer. Will you help reassure her?

Mr. B. U., Ohio

Dear Mr. U.:

This is a question that must be on the minds of many other people.

In fact, many people do not give up smoking readily because they feel that after so many years it is hopeless to expect a reversal of the effects of tobacco.

Many studies have indicated that circulatory diseases and threat of cancer of the larynx and the lungs may be sharply diminished after tobacco has been given up for three or four years.

Smokers have always noticed how coughs and attacks of bronchitis diminish when tobacco is given up for even one year.

The body has remarkable defenses and recuperative powers. There is no doubt that giving up tobacco will, after a reasonable time, usually allow the Small nests of cells accumulate and are responsible for menstrual disorders and a wide variety of symptoms whose cause is not suspected until the diagnosis of endometriosis is made.

Cancer is not considered, even as a vague possibility, in these cases. Your wife must not live in fear that this will occur.

Modern treatment, with specially selected hormones and with many other medical and surgical approaches, should remove the concern.

"Harry's father resents his lawn looking like Harry!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am 56 and have been a heavy smoker since 15. My doctor insists that I give it up and I'm trying to. Is it possible for my body to get rid of the effects of tobacco after so many years of smoking?

Mr. B. U., Ohio

Dear Mr. U.:

This is a question that must be on the minds of many other people.

In fact, many people do not give up smoking readily because they feel that after so many years it is hopeless to expect a reversal of the effects of tobacco.

Many studies have indicated that circulatory diseases and threat of cancer of the larynx and the lungs may be sharply diminished after tobacco has been given up for three or four years.

Smokers have always noticed how coughs and attacks of bronchitis diminish when tobacco is given up for even one year.

The body has remarkable defenses and recuperative powers. There is no doubt that giving up tobacco will, after a reasonable time, usually allow the body organs to revert to near their normal state.

My wife has endometriosis. She accepts her condition, but lives in terror that this may develop into a cancer. Will you help reassure her?

Mr. J. N., N.C.

Dear Mr. N.:

Endometrial cells line the inner wall of the womb. Sometimes these cells are transplanted into areas where they don't belong. They may find themselves in the ovaries, in the Fallopian tubes, in the wall of the uterus and in the vaginal canal.

Small nests of cells accumulate and are responsible for menstrual disorders and a wide variety of symptoms whose cause is not suspected until the diagnosis of endometriosis is made.

Cancer is not considered, even as a vague possibility, in these cases. Your wife must not live in fear that this will occur.

Modern treatment, with specially selected hormones and with many other medical and surgical approaches, should remove the concern.

Airship For Food Being Constructed

CABASSE, France (AP) — Working at an abandoned bauxite mine, 22 Europeans are building a modern version of the airship, and one of their hopes is that some day soon it will be flying tons of food to the hungry in Africa.

According to the Lightspeed Collective, a commune made up of members from various European countries, the airship will be bigger than any other in flight today. At 290 feet long it will be about 100 feet longer than the Goodyear blimps that fly around the United States.

But it won't match the size of the German-built 804-foot-long Hindenburg that went up in flames while landing at Lakehurst, N.J., on May 6, 1937, killing 36 persons.

Applying advanced technology to an old concept, the Lightspeed Collective believes it is reviving the airship as a practical, economical, ecologically sound — and commercial — form of transport.

The project seems symbolic of a widespread revival of interest in the airship, which first came into being around turn of the century. Production of airships slackened after World War II.

At the bauxite mine in the rugged hills behind the French Riviera, the collective early this month finished the first test section of the framework on the proposed airship.

The framework, made of fiberglass tubes spun by the group themselves on improvised machinery, was as high as a five-story building, but weighed only 220 pounds. All the "amigos" — the easiest word they have found when addressing all 22 young men and women — pitched in to carry it down a rough grass slope to the foot of an old mine loading tower, where it was to be hoisted for loading tests.

The sheer size and the rough ground caused problems which called for delicate handling.

"The frame is undergoing strains now it will never have to face as part of the airship," said Adam Lisowski, 25, the mathematician and fund raiser for the collective. "And we will be contracting out the tube making for the actual vessel."

He said they believe the airship can be built in four to five months.

Dr. Gunther Swaton of Vienne, Austria, conceived the airship idea and has spent three years in its design. He has degrees in astronomy, meteorology and engineering and worked in the United States for five years, including a spell at Temple University in Philadelphia.

The group already is cooperating with official French research bodies, which have government backing to develop a medium size airship for such purposes as traffic control, meteorological and ecological research, and transport of bulky objects such as nuclear reactor cores.

WINNER BECOMES LOSER—Pamela Johnson, winner of a Rolls Royce giveaway, stands over the car she can't use. She has been told that the car's title is not in order and she is liable for a four per cent sales tax when she applies for the title; Besides that, the car is starting to rust and the exhaust system fell off when the Rolls was taken to a car wash.

Ohio Faces Continued Recession Period

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
National economic observers predict a bottoming out of the recession, but those who deal with work forces on the management and labor sides generally agree the job forecast in Ohio won't be better soon.

"We don't see any great recovery trend," said Warren Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO. "I see a long bottom if this is the bottom."

William J. Costello of the normally optimistic Ohio Manufacturers Association said more people are employed in manufacturing now than two months ago, "but when we hit November 1st, we're going to get the hell kicked out of us."

On that date, the state's major retail supplier of natural gas will curtail most allocations by 60 per cent to industrial customers and 40 per cent to commercial customers.

Unemployment in Ohio reached a peak of 9.4 per cent in March to 8.3 per cent in May.

Norman H. Baker, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, interprets the fact that inventories are up as an indication of better times.

"In a state like Ohio, that is a good sign," Baker said. "A lot will depend on the extent the automotive industry rebounds. In an automotive-related state like Ohio that can be a help on down the line, particularly in the steel and glass industry."

The automotive industry is inching ahead, Ohio Bureau of Employment Services statistics show. In the Lordstown area where General Motors has a giant factory complex, May statistics show that recalls of workers in the transportation equipment and primary metals areas raised manufacturing employment by 3.1 per cent.

Other advances in May employment were largely seasonal, the bureau concludes.

"I'm like everybody else," said James B. Ogden, assistant director of the United Auto Workers district covering parts of Ohio and Pennsylvania and all of West Virginia. "I've got my fingers and legs crossed."

But he said the months ahead "generally look like trouble" for the industry. Some 30,000 UAW members in his area are laid off, with anticipation of more furloughs as routine 2 to 4 week layoffs for model changeovers stretch to allow inventories to be depleted.

Construction, which accounts for 5 per cent of the labor sector in Ohio and has a ripple effect, is awaiting the recovery.

"Where do the people who are putting out those things in New York or Washington get their facts?" asked Karl L. Rothermund, executive vice president of the Ohio Contractors Association.

"They aren't out where the action is," said Rothermund, who has been in the construction business since the 1920s. "I can't remember it being so bad. Maybe they think if you hide the truth, it will go away."

"As far as bottoming out, we're going downhill," he said. Rothermund predicted jobs in the industry will drop from a one-third reduction to half the workers before the economic situation improves.

Meanwhile, the mining industry with some 15,000 workers in Ohio is booming. The bureau says coal mining jobs have jumped one-fifth from May 1974 to May 1975 and is twice the low level of 1965.

Red Cross Board Meets Wednesday

Board of directors of Pickaway County Chapter American Red Cross will begin the new fiscal year at its 8 p.m. Wednesday meeting at the chapter house, 167 Watt St.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Village of New Boston, Scioto County, Ohio, will receive sealed proposals for the Buckeye Manor Neighborhood Park, on July 28, 1975, until 12:00 noon Eastern Daylight Savings Time, at the Office of the Mayor, the Municipal Building, 3940 Gallia Street, New Boston, Ohio, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.

This project is a 0.86 acre linear park project site consisting of excavation and embankment, water service, storm sewer drainage, asphalt bike and walkway site preparation, park equipment and related site improvement items, and large specimen plant materials and sodding, and all other contracted items.

Copies of the Plans and Specifications, the estimated items and quantities of work, the proposal and Contract Forms are on file at the Office of the Department of Community Development, the Municipal Building, 3940 Gallia Street, New Boston, Ohio 45662, where they may be obtained upon the payment of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00), none of which is refundable.

For information contact the Department of Community Development, New Boston, Ohio, or the Ralph L. Woolpert Company, 2324 Stanley Avenue, Dayton, Ohio 45404.

The Village of New Boston reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals; to waive any informalities in the bidding; and to enter into a contract with the lowest responsible bidder offering the lowest and best proposal.

Coal miners work overtime, averaging 45 hours a week and grossing $328 a week.

"We're hiring a lot of new people every week," said John Guzek, president of District 6 of the United Mine Workers in Ohio. Two new deep mines have opened in southeastern Ohio.

Although coal is important to the state's economy, William Papier, director of research and statistics for the Bureau of Employment Services said "there are both positive and negative factors at work" on the employment scene.

"Nobody, including myself, is in a position to say what the next effect will be," Papier said.

Papier's division said unemployment in Ohio declined for two months before May when the rate dropped to 8.3 per cent of the labor force while total employment rose to 4,420,000.

What gains were made in the spring may be lost with the surge of students into the labor force in the summer and the natural gas curtailments of the winter.

"There is every indication if we get a hard winter, there will be energy-related unemployment of some magnitude," said Ohio Development Director James A. Duerk.

"Although the employment picture is looking better, we may be stopped in our tracks."

"It will take 700 million gallons of fuel oil to make up the 60 per cent we'll lose in natural gas," Costello said. "The fuel oil is available but we don't have the storage capacity to handle it."

The Public Investigator

I received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service saying that my income tax return has been selected for audit. Am I in trouble?

Read a little further.

The IRS letter points out that returns are examined to verify income, exemptions, and deductions, that an audit does not always result in more tax due, and that selection of a return for examination does not imply dishonesty or suspicion of criminal liability. The audit letter further explains that in many cases, taxpayers' returns are accepted as filed, or examinations result in a refund.

The IRS is required to collect only the correct tax — no more and no less. But if you do not substantiate items when requested, the IRS has to act on available information, which may be incomplete. That is why your cooperation is so important.

Last year, the IRS revised its audit letters to relieve taxpayer apprehension about audits and yet most taxpayers find it very hard not to be nervous at the prospect of facing an IRS auditor, in spite of the fact that these personnel make every effort to be courteous, efficient and fair to taxpayers. Some taxpayers do indeed receive refunds, not bills, after an audit. One family for example, received income from a garage business, a home supply concern, and antique sales. The husband filed a return showing $2,795 due in taxes. The IRS conducted an audit, found an error in the taxpayers' inventory figures, and authorized a $1,683 refund.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I plan on moving soon. Can I deduct my moving expenses?

(A.) To deduct your moving expenses: 1) you must have moved because you went to work for a new employer or were transferred to a new place of work; 2) the distance from your new place of work to your old residence must be 50 miles farther than the distance from your old place of work to your old residence; 3) you must work at least 39 weeks during the 12 month period following the move.

You can deduct travel expenses (including meals and lodging) and the cost of moving household goods and personal effects from your old residence to your new residence.

You can deduct up to $2500 for the cost of house hunting, temporary quarters and selling your old house, with a $1000 limit on house hunting and temporary quarters deductions.

Obtain Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses," available free from your Internal Revenue office, for more details on the subject.

(Q.) My employer has attached my salary to pay for some of my outstanding debts. Is the attached amount considered income?

(A.) Yes. Amounts of attached or garnished salary are income and must be reported on your tax return.

The amounts are constructively received by you, that is, they are credited to your account even though you do not have physical possession of them.

(Q.) How long do I have to keep records I used to prepare tax returns for previous years?

(A.) You are required by law to keep records that will enable you to complete an accurate tax return. Records that support an item of income or a deduction must be retained until the statute of limitations on the tax return expires. Usually these records may be discarded three years from the date the return was due or filed or two years from the day the tax was paid, whichever comes later.

Records of transactions relating to the basis of property should be kept as long as they are material in determining the basis of the original or replacement property. An example of this would be the purchase of a home.

MRS. LYNN CARSON DUNKLE

Miss Karen Lynne Maxson, Mr. Lynn Carson Dunkle Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Karen Lynne Maxson and Mr. Lynn Carson Dunkle exchanged wedding vows 7:30 p.m., July 18th, in Adelphi United Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Maxson, Route 1, Kingston and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkle, 133 Pinckney St., Circleville.

The Rev. Albert McIlvaine of Marion United Methodist Church and the Rev. Jacob Lehman of the Adelphi Church officiated the double ring ceremony.

The altar table, flanked with seven branch candelabra, held a centerpiece of white gladioli with blue carnations. Yellow daisies and baby's breath were on the Communion table and the organ. The pews were marked with candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a formal length gown of chantilly lace featuring a high ring collar and long fitted sleeves with ruffled lace touched with sequin trim forming an oval yoke effect to the empire bodice enhanced with tiny buttons. Narrow white satin ribbon defined the waistline ending with a cravat bow at center back with streamers falling over the full skirt with a deep ruffle encircling the hemline draping in back with a ruffled Godet chapel train. Her dome shaped English net cap embroidered in jeweled trim held the tiered fingertip veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, a gift from her father.

Maid of honor, Miss DeeDee Poling, niece of the bride, wore a floor length gown of powder blue voile with white flocked flowers. White lace accented the bodice and stand up collar and the long sleeves with French cuffs were accented with six pearl buttons. Streamers tied into a bow was around the empire waistline and the hem was finished with a wide ruffle. She carried a cresent bouquet of yellow daisies, white stephanotis and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Keith Lands and Mrs. Wayne LaRue, were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried matching bouquets. The Misses Kami and Mindy Poling, nieces of the bride, attended the guest book.

Mr. Brian Dunkle, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Jim Shank and Mr. Mike Hankins. Acolytes were Mr. Randy Huffer and Mr. Greg Huffer, nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a floor length blue gown with matching beaded trim at the neckline and wide cuffs. The bridegroom's mother selected a floor length pink gown with a jacket of matching sheer lace. Corsages for both mothers were of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

A buffet reception at the Holiday Inn, Chillicothe, followed the ceremony. The three tiered yellow cake was decorated with pale yellow accents of harps, angels and doves. Ivy surrounded the base of the cake and candelabra at each end of the table. The top of the cake held white daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Poling, Mrs. Bennie Huffer, sisters of the bride, and Miss Debra Maxson, her cousin.

For a wedding trip to the north central states the bride wore a two piece silk shantung dress with an apricot colored bodice and skirt and jacket of apricot, green and beige. She wore a corsage of roses and baby's breath taken from her wedding bouquet. The couple now resides at 119½ S. Pickaway St.

The new Mrs. Dunkle graduated from Logan Elm High School and Capital University where she received a BA in elementary education. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Pi, scholastic honorary society. She is employed as a teacher at Jackson Elementary School in the Westfall District.

Mr. Dunkle, a graduate of Circleville High School, will graduate in the fall from the Ohio State University with a BS in agronomy. He is currently engaged in farming with his father.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Williamsport Church

Miss Roxanne Russell and Mr. Richard D. Brayshaw were united in marriage 7:30 p.m., June 21st, at the Williamsport United Methodist Church. The Rev. Richard Crosby officiated the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Francis L. Russell of Williamsport and Mrs. Barbara J. Tufts of Circleville are the parents of the bride. Mr. Brayshaw's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brayshaw of Williamsport.

OFWC Seminar Attended By Mrs. Sterling Poling

"Our legacy from Hitler, was the destruction of human values" said Dorothy Fuldheim, this week when she spoke to the Leadership Development Seminar, sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at the Lorain Community College in Elyria. Miss Fuldheim, Cleveland TV news analyst, is most apprehensive about our willingness to pay any price for Mid-East oil which she points out, is available to us only because of American know-how.

Workshops were conducted by Dr. Ruth Lewis of the University of Akron on "Getting And Keeping Members" on parliamentary law by Gloria Resnick; "How A Club Works" by Dr. Roy Berko and "Interpersonal Communication" by Kay Dickerson, and "A Woman and Her Estate" by Mrs. Nadyne King, an OFWC chairman, assisted by a pan of local experts.

Mrs. Petrillo and Mrs. Lou Kepler, Woman's Page editor for the Lorain Journal also spoke to the group. The seminar, one of the adult education programs provided by the Ohio Federation for its membership, is held on alternate years. Mrs. Sterling Poling was among those who attended this year's session.

Wedding Plans Are Revealed

PAMELA ELAINE GOBEL

Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Gobel, Route 1, Williamsport are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pamela Elaine, to Gregory C. Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Daniels, Grove City.

Miss Gobel attended Pickaway-Ross Vocational School. Her fiance attended Grove City High School and is employed at Jerry Hagg's Chevrolet in Hillsboro.

The wedding will be an event of August 16th at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Hillsboro.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Wills and daughter, Cindy Leigh, of Weirbach, Germany, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wills, 420 Watt St., and Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burton, 432 Imperial Court.

A half-hour of nuptial music was presented by the organist, Mrs. Judy Wolfe of Circleville, preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white satin with an empire waistline. The gown was enhanced by a floor length train of lace. The bodice and long sleeves were of matching lace. Her elbow length veil of illusion net was caught to a large satin bow. The diamond necklace she wore was a gift of the bridegroom. In keeping tradition she carried a white Bible, a token from her mother, a handkerchief, diamond earrings were borrowed from her oldest sister and she wore a blue garter.

The colonial nosegay she carried was of white daisies matching the various colors of the attendants gowns, white rosebuds and baby's breath tied with ribbon forming streamers.

Miss Vicky Winks served as maid of honor with the brides sisters, Mrs. Jody Kretzler, Mrs. Shirley Bass, and Miss Mandy Russell as the bridesmaids. Their A-line polyester gowns as well as the bridal gown were all sewn by the bride and her sister, Pam. The full length gowns of baby blue, mint green, peach, and yellow had round necklines and short puffed sleeves. White wide brimmed hats, trimmed in the color ribbon of each gown were worn and they each carried nosegays of daisies to match their attire.

The duties of best man were performed by Mr. Mike Martin. Ushers were Mr. Jody Kretzler, the brides brother-in-law; Mr. Randy Russell, the brides brother and Mr. Barry Brayshaw, brother of the groom.

A reception was held in the church basement immediately following the ceremony. Out of town guests were from Dayton, Cincinnati, Chillicothe, Frankfort, Kingston, Londonderry, Columbus and Circleville.

The new Mrs. Brayshaw was graduated from Westfall in 1971 and is employed by General Electric. Mr. Brayshaw also a graduate of Westfall in 1969 is with the N & W Railroad. They are residing in Williamsport.

Circle Entertains At Hamburger Fry

A hamburger fry and picnic was held Monday evening at A. W. Marion State Park by Circle 2 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church. Present were 10 members and two guests, the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Flowers.

Evelyn Dunkle opened the meeting by leading members and guests in singing several selections. Prayer was by Mrs. Bernice Lutz.

Members were asked to bring cookies for a reception to be held Sunday at the church for Rev. and Mrs. Flowers.

It was agreed to serve a luncheon to the Committee on Aging, representing senior citizens around the state. Blanche Kerns will serve as chairman with Launa Wynkoop and Maxine Woltz assisting.

Devotions were by Rev. Flowers. His topic was "Total Commitment." Scripture was from Exodus, chapter 24, and he served the sacrament of Holy Communion using bread broken from a large loaf and drinking from a common cup.

The August meeting will be in the home of Nancy Hamilton with Eloise Fee as program leader.

Benevolent Assn. Meets Wednesday

The Benevolent Assn. of Circleville held a noon meeting Wednesday at Pickaway Arms.

Mrs. McClure Hughes was elected treasurer to fill the office vacated with the death of Mrs. Clark Will. Mrs. Paul Cromley requested that Mrs. Allen Berger keep the minutes. Mrs. Robert Adkins proposed Mrs. G. D. Phillips as a new member to the association.

A discussion followed concerning the acknowledgement of memorial gifts and payment for emergency dental work.

MRS. LYNN CARSON DUNKLE

Miss Karen Lynne Maxson, Mr. Lynn Carson Dunkle Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Karen Lynne Maxson and Mr. Lynn Carson Dunkle exchanged wedding vows 7:30 p.m., July 18th, in Adelphi United Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Maxson, Route 1, Kingston and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkle, 133 Pinckney St., Circleville.

The Rev. Albert McIlvaine of Marion United Methodist Church and the Rev. Jacob Lehman of the Adelphi Church officiated the double ring ceremony.

The altar table, flanked with seven branch candelabra, held a centerpiece of white gladioli with blue carnations. Yellow daisies and baby's breath were on the Communion table and the organ. The pews were marked with candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a formal length gown of chantilly lace featuring a high ring collar and long fitted sleeves with ruffled lace touched with sequin trim forming an oval yoke effect to the empire bodice enhanced with tiny buttons. Narrow white satin ribbon defined the waistline ending with a cravat bow at center back with streamers falling over the full skirt with a deep ruffle encircling the hemline draping in back with a ruffled Godet chapel train. Her dome shaped English net cap embroidered in jeweled trim held the tiered fingertip veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, a gift from her father.

Maid of honor, Miss DeeDee Poling, niece of the bride, wore a floor length gown of powder blue voile with white flocked flowers. White lace accented the bodice and stand up collar and the long sleeves with French cuffs were accented with six pearl buttons. Streamers tied into a bow was around the empire waistline and the hem was finished with a wide ruffle. She carried a crescent bouquet of yellow daisies, white stephanotis and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Keith Lands and Mrs. Wayne LaRue, were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried matching bouquets. The Misses Kami and Mindy Poling, nieces of the bride, attended the guest book.

Mr. Brian Dunkle, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Jim Shank and Mr. Mike Hankins. Acolytes were Mr. Randy Huffer and Mr. Greg Huffer, nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a floor length blue gown with matching beaded trim at the neckline and wide cuffs. The bridegroom's mother selected a floor length pink gown with a jacket of matching sheer lace. Corsages for both mothers were of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

A buffet reception at the Holiday Inn, Chillicothe, followed the ceremony. The three tiered yellow cake was decorated with pale yellow accents of hearts, angels and doves. Ivy surrounded the base of the cake and candelabra at each end of the table. The top of the cake held white daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Poling, Mrs. Bennie Huffer, sisters of the bride, and Miss Debra Maxson, her cousin.

For a wedding trip to the north central states the bride wore a two piece silk shantung dress with an apricot colored bodice and skirt and jacket of apricot, green and beige. She wore a corsage of roses and baby's breath taken from her wedding bouquet. The couple now resides at 119½ S. Pickaway St.

The new Mrs. Dunkle graduated from Logan Elm High School and Capital University where she received a BA in elementary education. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Pi, scholastic honorary society. She is employed as a teacher at Jackson Elementary School in the Westfall District.

Mr. Dunkle, a graduate of Circleville High School, will graduate in the fall from the Ohio State University with a BS in agronomy. He is currently engaged in farming with his father.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Williamsport Church

Miss Roxanne Russell and Mr. Richard D. Brayshaw were united in marriage 7:30 p.m., June 21st, at the Williamsport United Methodist Church. The Rev. Richard Crosby officiated the double ring ceremony. Mr. Francis L. Russell of Williamsport and Mrs. Barbara J. Tufts of Circleville are the parents of the bride. Mr. Brayshaw's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brayshaw of Williamsport.

CAMPING TRIP—These Brooks Yates School students are anxious to get started on their weekend camping trip at Breezwood Acres near Sunbury, Ohio. The trip is sponsored by the Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board.

Brooks-Yates Students Go Camping

By ANDREA PORTER
Journalism Intern

Fifteen students from Brooks-Yates School left Friday for a three-day camping expedition at Breezwood Acres. They will spend the weekend camping, hiking and just learning some of the principles of roughing it.

The camp, located east of Sunbury, Ohio, is rented by schools and institutions from the Franklin County Council for Retarded Children. They supply the space and facilities, but it is up to the individual groups to bring and prepare the food.

The camp is equipped with a lodge, barn and fishing pond. The lodge is furnished with four large bedrooms, living rooms and a kitchen.

Jay Clevenger, administrator of the mental retardation program for the county, said they plan to spend a lot of time fishing. There is also a pond for swimming, but they won't be using it. "Although the county's special camping program is only three years old," Clevenger said, "It was the first program of its kind in the state." The Mental Retardation Board of Pickaway County is sponsoring the trip.

Along with the students, four counselors, Mrs. Hannelore Parks, local director of the camp, and Clevenger went to the camp. They will be in charge of the cooking duties as well as taking care of the students.

The counselors for the students are Cynthia Beatty, Patricia Ford, Michael Parks and Susan Parks.

The campers are: Stanley Alamasha, Jack Ball, Helen Borrer, Brad Jones, Jim McKelvey, Shawn Moore, Debbie Otis, Francene Porter, Mary Sue Romine, Carol Rubadue, Eric Seitz, Frank Shepherd, Sally Strawser, Michelle Valentine and Ann Lillie.

Ohio Wagon Train On Seasonal Trip

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — "Wagons Ho!" will be the call heard here this week as the Ohio Wagon Train begins its seasonal roll across northeastern Ohio like pioneers did years ago.

Well, that may be stretching it somewhat. These modern wagoners carry walkie-talkies rather than six-shooters and won't kill game for food. Ice for coolers and other supplies are trucked to the campsite each evening.

More than 300 persons interested in promoting the use of animal drawn vehicles will take part in the expedition which has been held each year since 1966.

There is one requirement — participants must own a covered wagon.

In order to get into this year's train, members had to sign on by March. It enables train leaders to know how many will be on the trail.

The outing is carefully planned in advance, with the pace geared to the slowest team.

Ponies have replaced the workhorses of yesteryear as the power source on many of the wagons. These

RCA Reports Earnings Decline Slowed In Second Quarter

RCA earnings declined 24 per cent in the second quarter of 1975 from the comparable period a year ago, RCA Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff reported today.

Net profit was $26.8 million, or 34 cents a common share, compared with $35.2 million or 45 cents a share in the second quarter of 1974.

Sarnoff observed that RCA's earnings declined in the current recession had lessened in the second quarter compared to the 46 per cent decline in the first quarter of 1975. He expressed the view that RCA's performance would continue improving in the second half, based on an anticipated moderate improvement in the national economy.

Figures for both the 1975 and 1974 quarters reflect the last-in, first-out (LIFO) accounting method adopted by RCA in 1974 for most of its domestic inventories. Second quarter sales were $1.16 billion compared with $1.15 billion a year ago.

Earnings for the six months ended June 30, 1975, amounted to $43.8 million, a decline of 34 per cent from the $66.5 million reported in the first half of 1974. Earnings per share for the first half were 55 cents against 85 cents a year earlier. Sales for the six months totaled $2.25 billion against $2.23 billion last year.

Sarnoff said the weak economy had affected RCA's performance most severely in sales of television sets, solid state devices, electronic components and home furnishings. However, he said there were encouraging indications of reviving consumer confidence, with color TV

Strike Hits GM Plant

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A General Motors Corp. spokesman says little progress was made in talks Sunday between representatives of the company and the striking United Auto Workers Local 1714 at the GM Fisher Body plant here.

The 2,200 members of Local 1714 struck the fabricating plant Friday in a dispute over production standards, which the union says are too high.

The strike cut off the flow of parts to the adjoining Vega-Astre assembly plant, forcing a shutdown of the assembly lines and idling another 4,800 workers.

The company spokesman said Sunday the passenger car lines will remain closed until further notice because of the strike.

"Employees will be notified by area radio, television and newspapers when to return to work," the spokesman said.

Ohio prairie schooners don't have to haul all their family possessions and the smaller animals suffice.

The animals are shod with borium shoes to protect their hooves from hard-surfaced roads, which were not exactly a hazard in pioneer days.

Shaving equipment is banned from each wagon but a fire extinguisher is mandatory. One wagon in line is a comfort station.

Each day's journey brings the wagons to an open, prearranged field of at least five acres, suitable for putting them in a circle. The field must have plenty of water available.

The Ohio Wagon Train doesn't cross the Ohio Turnpike or busy thoroughfares. In planning the seven-day circular route, scouts stick to rural areas.

Plenty of notice is given local authorities in advance of the train's arrival in a town. It is often met by a village police force.

Once, police took them to the center of town where the ladies whipped up a bake sale for sightseers. With all the people gathering around to look at the wagons, the sale was a success.

Where is their dream house without more energy?

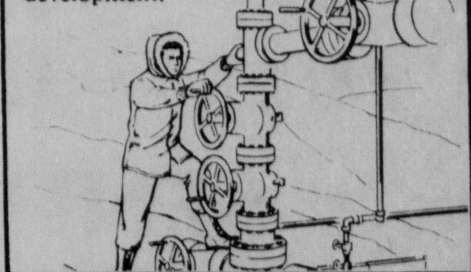

Unless all of the new sources of clean energy are made available soon, your dream house . . . or your children's . . . could be little more than a dream.

Of course, if you live in a house using natural gas now, you'll continue to get the gas you need for the appliances you're using . . . or their replacements. People who already live in gas houses are lucky.

But America needs millions of new homes every year. And the home builders already have felt the effects of the gas shortage. In many areas of the country, builders can't get natural gas for all the new homes that must be built. And that adds to the supply problems of the other forms of energy. It doesn't leave the new home buyer much choice and means he could pay more for his new, non-gas home.

But, all forms of energy that America needs — gas, oil, coal, nuclear — are in short supply. And Americans should be concerned about that. You can help by learning more about the energy crisis and supporting efforts to provide America with enough energy to meet all its needs, including new and better housing.

Columbia Gas is working to help solve the energy crisis through Arctic exploration. The advancement of millions of dollars for rights to gas discovery has stimulated exploration and drilling activities in the Arctic. Commercially productive wells have been found. Huge pipelines remain to be built and Columbia is participating in their development.

COLUMBIA GAS
Gas is precious, pure energy . . . use it wisely.

As a fund-raising project, members are selling tickets for a CB base radio and a base antenna to be given away Aug. 16. There were 19 members present at the meeting.

Shaving equipment is banned from each wagon but a fire extinguisher is mandatory. One wagon in line is a comfort station.

Each day's journey brings the wagons to an open, prearranged field of at least five acres, suitable for putting them in a circle. The field must have plenty of water available.

The Ohio Wagon Train doesn't cross the Ohio Turnpike or busy thoroughfares. In planning the seven-day circular route, scouts stick to rural areas.

Plenty of notice is given local authorities in advance of the train's arrival in a town. It is often met by a village police force.

Once, police took them to the center of town where the ladies whipped up a bake sale for sightseers. With all the people gathering around to look at the wagons, the sale was a success.

Where is their dream house without more energy?

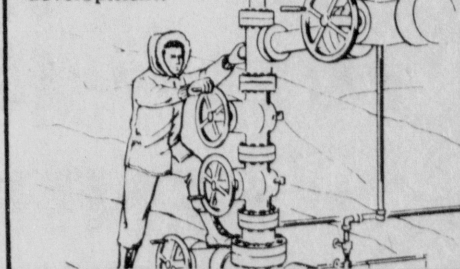

Unless all of the new sources of clean energy are made available soon, your dream house . . . or your children's . . . could be little more than a dream.

Of course, if you live in a house using natural gas now, you'll continue to get the gas you need for the appliances you're using . . . or their replacements. People who already live in gas houses are lucky.

But America needs millions of new homes every year. And the home builders already have felt the effects of the gas shortage. In many areas of the country, builders can't get natural gas for all the new homes that must be built. And that adds to the supply problems of the other forms of energy. It doesn't leave the new home buyer much choice and means he could pay more for his new, non-gas home.

But, all forms of energy that America needs — gas, oil, coal, nuclear — are in short supply. And Americans should be concerned about that. You can help by learning more about the energy crisis and supporting efforts to provide America with enough energy to meet all its needs, including new and better housing.

Columbia Gas is working to help solve the energy crisis through Arctic exploration. The advancement of millions of dollars for rights to gas discovery has stimulated exploration and drilling activities in the Arctic. Commercially productive wells have been found. Huge pipelines remain to be built and Columbia is participating in their development.

COLUMBIA GAS

Gas is precious, pure energy . . . use it wisely.

GLACIAL GROOVES—These giant troughs on Kelley Island were ground from solid rock by the last great glacier of the Ice Age. The grooves are among the many fascinating remnants of history which can be seen in the Lake Erie area.

Lake Area Favorite Retreat

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles prepared by the Ohio Historical Society about interesting historical sites around the state. With America's Bicentennial approaching, now is the perfect time to take your family back into Ohio's history and explore her proud heritage.

Lake towns and island resorts have long been a favorite retreat for vacationers who are eager to exchange the concrete and asphalt of city life for the lure of sandy beaches, picturesque waterfronts and wide, open spaces. This scenic living that millions of tourists spend dollars and travel time looking for each year, is available to this summer's wise traveler for the mere cost of a tank of gas and a map of northwestern Ohio.

When heading for the cool air and lake breezes of this section of the state, be sure to take an hour or two out of your driving time for a worthwhile stop at the charming little town of Fremont. Founded on the site of old Fort Stephenson, Fremont is a picture of historic elegance. Adorned with sprawling green parks and large, shady elms, the town has a historic elegance. Adorned with sprawling green parks and large, shady elms, the town has a history dating back to the early 1800's, when Major George Croghan, with 150 American soldiers and one cannon, successfully defeated a British troop of over 700. This fascinating story is retold via displays of Indian and pioneer relics and old weapons that were actually used during the battle, at the Fort Stephenson Museum, located in the public library at the beautiful Fort Stephenson Park. Open Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., Saturday to 6, and closed on Wednesday afternoons, it's an excellent stopping place to enjoy a picnic lunch and become oriented to the town and its past.

After lunch, pick up City Route 6, to the corner of Buckland and Hayes Avenue. Here, standing in the midst of a beautiful, wooded 25-acre estate, is the elegant home of Fremont's most famous resident, Rutherford B. Hayes, the 19th President of the United States.

Entering Spiegel Grove, you pass through one of the six ornate iron gates, that guarded the White House grounds in Washington D.C. during the Hayes administration. The winding drive threads past the spacious home, a library and museum and the granite monument, all located within a pleasant walk of each other. The huge, gray sandstone library-museum houses an interesting collection of momentos of President and Mrs. Hayes from both their personal and public life. Children will be particularly interested in the display of toys belonging to the Hayes' children, handmade by White House carpenters. The Fanny Hayes' Doll House, featured in the center of the exhibit, will be the delight of every little girl. Furnished in the style of the period, complete with miniature maids and bustling cooks, the doll house was a favorite of Fanny Hayes while she was living in the White House. Upstairs is the Rutherford B. Hayes library, an excellent resource center for the study of American history from the Civil War to the present day, with an excellent collection of Hayes' letters and manuscripts.

Next door, is the Hayes homestead, an Ohio version of a stately European home, still the private residence of the Hayes' descendants. Personable interpreters welcome you at the door like an invited guest, ready to take you through the elegant surroundings. The regality of the furnishings is tasteful, not opulent. The huge fireplaces in every room, the oriental accessories, so fashionable at that time, and the beautiful furniture contribute to the richness of the decor. As you wander through the library, parlor, dining room and bedrooms, you get an excellent idea of the stately family living of this important Ohio clan.

Outside, walk the section of the Sandusky-Scioto Trail, once a famous Indian path which extended from the Ohio River to Lake Erie. Follow it as it winds through a grove of majestic hardwood, named for famous Americans who have visited this Grove. Passing a secluded, wooded knoll on the southwestern section of the estate, stands the granite memorial where the remains of Hayes and his wife, Lucy, are buried. Students of all ages are invited to visit and enjoy the Memorial and grounds. It's open Wednesday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday through Tuesday. The museum is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and 1:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

After absorbing the ambience of the Hayes' intimate home and surroundings, continue your trip by heading north on Route 53 to Marblehead, a twentieth century village drenched in nineteenth century charm. With a maritime history dating back to the early 1800's (as evidenced by the huge loading dock of the stone company and the oldest working lighthouse on the Great Lakes), Marblehead will serve as an excellent starting point on your journey to the Lake Erie Islands.

Begin at Kelleys Island, the largest U.S. island in Lake Erie. Situated an enjoyable 20-minute, or 30-minute from Sandusky, ferry trip away, this isle is a beachcomber's dream that could easily last an entire weekend.

Spend one lazy day exploring Kelleys Island State Park. Here, on 590 acres of beautiful beaches and open fields, once, only a series of limestone quarries, you can sample the island's major attractions. Glacial Grooves, adjacent to the park, boasts the finest glacial carvings in America. Walking around the awesome 396 feet of exposed limestone bedrock, containing interesting samples of fossilized marine life, you're taken back thousands of years to the time of the glaciers, when the area was nothing but a sheet of ice, up to a mile high. Open daylight hours, a well-informed naturalist is on duty to answer your questions and help explain the mysteries of that early age. Only a few miles down the road, on the south shore of the island, is Inscription Rock, a stone that has been carved with unusual pictographs by the prehistoric people of that era. The State park, itself, offers plenty of hiking trails, beachcombing (for fossils and driftwood), and excellent camping facilities to make your stay not only enjoyable but inexpensive as well.

Kelleys Island can also serve as "home base" to other equally engaging sights on Lake Erie's other islands. On South Bass Island stands the impressive monument to Perry's Victory and the International Peace Monument in its lovely Put-In-Bay. For the gourmet lovers, there's a fascinating trip through Lonz Winery on Middle Bass, and for history buffs, there's the Confederate cemetery on Johnsons' Island, all within easy reach of Kelleys. It's a taste of Europe's "Channel Isles" in the heart of Ohio's Lake Erie.

Tax Board Helps Collections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's obscure Board of Tax Appeals has launched a new program to help counties collect delinquent taxes.

They totaled $164.7 million last year. Chairman John Zonak said the first in a series of seminars for prosecutors last month was a major success.

"We thought they would show up with their golf clubs, but they brought their books," Zonak said.

The seminar was held at Salt Fork State Park near Cambridge. It attracted 126 prosecutors, assistants, county officials and employees of the three-member Board of Tax Appeals.

They exchanged ideas about how to collect delinquent taxes and the many and varied reasons they are not always collectable.

Zonak said future sessions are planned for treasurers, auditors and other county officials interested in the problem. He said outside speakers, including educators, are being invited to future sessions.

Plans call for the seminars to be held approximately every three months.

Zonak said the sessions are being planned for state parks, with the next one for county auditors scheduled July 14 at Hueston Woods in Butler and Preble counties. County treasurers tentatively are scheduled to meet at Burr Oak State Park Aug. 11.

The tax appeals chairman said the sessions were looked upon favorably by Gov. James A. Rhodes and were included in the board's 1975-1977 budget. They are held at a minimum cost. Each seminar runs $600 to $1,000. "Usually, it amounts to paying for just one meal," said Zonak.

The Ohio Public Expenditure Council, a nonpartisan group which keeps track of government spending and taxing, said last year's $164.7 million delinquency total ran ahead of the 1973 total of $147.3 million by 11.8 per cent.

Delinquent taxes have increased steadily in the years since 1964 when they totaled $67 million. Smallest increase during the decade was from $78.9 million in 1968 to $79.8 million in 1969, the council said.

There were many reasons why delinquent taxes cannot always be collected. In one such category are those owed on property with tax liens greater than the value of the property, the expenditure council said. Financial problems encountered by a major company contributed significantly to last year's delinquency increase, the council said.

EXCHANGE STUDENT—Claes Paulsson, exchange student from Helsingborg, Sweden, visited the Rotary Club Thursday with Walter Spangler, right. Spangler is chairman of the Youth Affairs Committee. The exchange student is staying with the family of Earl Palm while visiting in the United States. He told Rotarians of his many wonderful experiences such as seeing his first football and basketball games. Paulsson also said he would like very much to return to the US to live after he completes his education.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Delinquent Citizen Wants To Pay Up

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if the U.S. government has what they call a "conscience place" where a person can go and pay the government what he has cheated them out of. If so, where is it? I want to die clean.

WANTS TO REPENT
DEAR WANTS: There is no one place. If you've cheated on your income tax, write to the Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. with a note of explanation. If you've cheated on something else, send your remittance to any U.S. Treasury office with a note, and they will channel it to the proper place.

(P.S. In the meantime, pray. You know how slow the mails are.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Trapped," the young woman whose husband beat her and kept her a prisoner in her home with no money of her own. You told her to go to a family service agency for help. How could she get there? She doesn't drive.

My husband also kept me a prisoner and I didn't drive. He never allowed me to have any friends, never gave me a penny for anything and wouldn't even let me go to church. He'd hit me when I complained.

When I threatened divorce, he said nobody else would have me. I had two children and no training for a job, so I put up with it for six years.

I finally started to talk with my minister on the phone. He told me that God didn't intend for marriage to be a test of anybody's endurance. He advised me to give my husband a time limit to seek help, and if he refused, to leave him with no regrets.

I took my minister's advice. My husband laughed in my face, told me no other man would have me and slapped me and the children around. Finally, I left.

I stayed with my parents for six months while I found a job and a place of my own. For two years I lived alone and found that I had an inner strength and a faith in God I didn't know was there.

I joined "Parents Without Partners" and dated when I could. I stayed with the church and sang in the choir. Then, one night at choir rehearsal a young man who had recently returned from the military service walked in. I soon found out he was single.

To make a long story short, we have been married three years and now have a child of our own. I couldn't be happier.

Please print this, Abby. If it gives just one woman the courage to gather up her self-respect and leave a situation that's as hopeless as mine was, it will be worth it.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: You had a pretty good flap going some time ago about printing the Ten Commandments on bed sheets.

Saw something the other day that reminded me of it. Being of Social Security age, I really appreciated it.

On display in a novelty shop was a pillow case, emblazoned in big block letters: "DON'T EXPECT MIRACLES."

Urban Trolley System Tried Out

DETROIT (AP) — The Motor City is rolling out a new urban trolley system in hopes that turn-of-the-century mass transit will revitalize a sagging downtown economy.

Three 75-year-old cars were delivered recently in preparation for the start-up of a downtown trolley run along once-stylish Washington Boulevard.

City planner Alex Pollack says the last new urban trolley system in the U.S. was built at least 40 or 50 years ago. None have been constructed since then because of the cost.

But, Pollack says times have changed.

"The trolley system is cheap compared to highways or other transportation systems," he said. "The whole system would cost less than six General Motors buses."

There hasn't been a trolley car in Detroit since 1960 and Pollack hopes to have the trolley system running next spring.

The cost, including cars, a car barn and installation of rails and overhead powerlines, will be $600,000, he said. The cars have a 40-passenger capacity and the fare for each will be either 25 cents or 10 cents depending on response. Pollack says if response is tremendous, there will be no fare at all.

The system is financed by the state highway department, the city and some local merchants.

The city went to trolleys in an effort to attract people downtown. "It's the first step in revitalizing the area," Pollack said.

The trolley will ferry convention delegates from their hotels along Washington Boulevard to Cobo Hall, a popular meeting site.

But Pollack says the trolleys also will attract children and visitors to the area. "They are historical and educational as well as functional," he said.

The cars were built in the late 1800s in St. Louis and have been fully restored. They are painted red and white and have oak and mahogany interiors.

Although the cars were built in the United States, they were purchased in Lisbon.

When Detroit began looking for trolleys three years ago there were no cars available anywhere in the nation, Pollack said. But Lisbon was modernizing its transit system, "and they didn't mind selling the trolleys," Pollack said.

"They might mind now that they know how valuable they are," he added. "The value of the trolley is enormous. It's worth more than we paid for it. It's an antique as well as a functional item."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

In the back yard of a suburban apartment, the landlord installed a billy goat as a mascot for the building. For months the goat reigned as favorite pet of the neighborhood children.

But one day, without warning, he severely butted a young woman tenant. Cut and bruised, the victim demanded damages from the landlord for bringing "this dangerous creature" onto the premises.

However, the court dismissed her claim on the ground that the landlord "did not know and had no reason to believe that the animal was of a bad disposition."

Generally speaking, the law gives domestic animals—horses, cows, goats, sheep—the benefit of the doubt. That is, they may be considered harmless until proven otherwise.

Actual misconduct, however, puts the owner "on notice" to take precautions in the future. Thus:

A man owned a pony which he allowed visiting youngsters to ride. But again and again, the pony showed a tendency to nip and buck.

When he finally kicked a boy in the head, a court ruled that the owner could indeed be held liable. The court said that even though ponies are usually harmless, bad behavior will put a specific pony into the "dangerous" category.

In one unusual case a farmer kept a beehive near his back fence, only a few feet away from a neighbor's doghouse. One day the bees swarmed over the fence and attacked first the dog, then the neighbor himself when he rushed to the rescue.

True, these bees had never injured anyone before. Nevertheless, a court pointed out that bees are prone to attack if kept too close to another creature. Holding the farmer liable on grounds of simple negligence, the court said:

"The owner of a domestic animal is bound to take notice of the general propensities of the class to which it belongs."

The Circleville Herald, Monday July 21, 1975

LION KILLER—Sherman Patrick, a native of Pickaway County who is now a government trapper in Wyoming, recently killed a 150-pound, 7-foot 5-inch puma which has been destroying sheep in the area for two years. Patrick has been a government trapper for 29 years but this is the first mountain lion he has killed or even seen outside of a zoo. It was killed near the Girl Scout National Center West which annually hosts over 3,000 girls from all over the nation. For this reason, Patrick could not use conventional trapping methods because they presented a hazard to the girls.

It was a good day, almost a great one, for Roger Penske. As far as Butch Hartman was concerned, though, he'd rather not talk about it.

Penske had two McLaren's entered in the Indianapolis car portion of the $100,000 twin 200-mile races Sunday at Michigan International Speedway, which he also owns. He had a highly competitive Matador in the 200-mile United States Auto Club stock car half of the doubleheader.

And in the stands were a record 52,000 paying customers.

The Matador finished second with veteran Bobby Allison at the wheel and young Tom Sneva ran a strong second in one of the McLaren's behind A.J. Foyt.

Hartman finished first in the stock car event, but the fourtime USAC stock king was disqualified when his Dodge was found to have a 24.2 gallon gas tank, two gallons over the legal limit.

That gave unheralded Terry Ryan, who had finished 23.8 seconds behind Hartman, his first victory ever.

In other racing Sunday, Cale Yarborough repeated as winner in the

Palmer Wins U.S. Women's Open Golf

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Sandra Palmer has placed her name alongside those of such famed women golfers as Babe Didrickson Zaharias, Mickey Wright, Patty Berg and Betsy Rawls as a winner of the U.S. Women's Open. But the tiny blonde from Texas says frankly: "I've never felt that I was really in that class."

The 34-year-old veteran counted five bogeys with five birdies for an even-par final round 72 Sunday and a 72-hole total of 295, seven-over-par on the Atlantic City Country Club course.

She coasted home with a four-stroke edge over 18-year-old amateur Nancy Lopez and pros JoAnne Carner and Sandra Post.

Miss Palmer took the lead for good on the ninth hole, but insisted, "I was fighting for my life out there. When you get a lead, you start feeling protective."

The 5-foot-1½ blonde from Fort Worth earned $8,044 to boost her season's earnings to nearly $65,000, tops on the tour.

Miss Palmer, who shot 78 in the first round but followed with 74-71-72, attributes her success to hard work.

"I was not a good player when I came on the tour. In fact, I was terrible."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, whose club began Sunday with a 12½-game lead in the National League West, could afford to be philosophical about his club's 11-4 loss to Philadelphia.

"We just couldn't catch the ball today. It was just one of those games," he said.

Cincinnati's loss, coupled with a 5-3 Los Angeles victory over Chicago, narrowed the Reds' lead to 11½ games in the division.

Asked whether the big lead made a difference, Anderson replied, "No, I don't think about it much. Every day is a different day. This was just a bad one. Maybe we'll have a good one tomorrow."

Third baseman Mike Schmidt slugged a three-run homer and an RBI single Sunday to lead the Phils to their fourth straight victory.

Schmidt, who slammed 36 homers to lead the major leagues during his sophomore season a year ago, but has been in a slump this year, hopes things have changed for the better.

"I'm a lot better hitter now that I'm not thinking up at the plate," the blonde third baseman said.

"That's been my problem all year. I got off to a slow start and I've been thinking too much about my stance, about striking out, about everything. You've just got to clear your mind and let your natural ability take over."

Rookie Tom Underwood was the beneficiary of some shoddy Red fielding Sunday as he won his 10th game against seven losses. The Phils scored four in the first on five walks by Reds' starter Clay Kirby and Schmidt's single, and added another four in the second on a hit by Greg Luzinski and Schmidt's three-run shot over the left-field fence. They added another in the fourth and two more on Garry Maddox's eighth-inning double.

But the Reds, who made four errors, kept coming and scored twice each in the second and third and finally chased Underwood in the sixth. Reliever Gene Garber kept Cincinnati at bay for his seventh save.

Underwood, who threw a lot of pitches on a sweltering, humid day, was ready to come out when he was finally pulled by Manager Danny Ozark.

Cincinnati power hitter Johnny Bench missed the game with a pulled calf muscle that had been bothering him several days.

Phils' slugger Dick Allen also was out of line-up after having had his eyes tested earlier in the day. His eyes were dilated in a routine team eye check-up but he wouldn't have played anyway, said Ozark. Allen, who played Saturday night, normally does not start in a day game that follows a night game.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia conclude their two-game series this evening.

Wood, Chisox Rout Brewers, 9-2

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

The moment Wilbur Wood let go of the ball, he figured he'd done something wrong. The moment Bill Stein hit the ball he figured he'd done something right.

Wood recorded his third straight complete-game victory Sunday in the Chicago White Sox' 9-2 rout of Milwaukee, the opening game of a doubleheader. He would have had his third straight shutout had it not been for a mistake that Gorman Thomas slammed down the left field line for a two-run homer.

In the second game, Stein jumped on a Pete Broberg mistake and sent it over the wall for the first grand slam of his career, the big shot in a 10-5 victory that gave the White Sox a sweep of the Brewers.

In the rest of the American League, New York swept a pair from Minnesota, 14-2 and 5-4, Texas trounced Boston 10-5, then lost 3-2, Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-3, Cleveland belted California 10-4 and Oakland beat Baltimore 5-2.

The Brewers were behind from the opening inning, when Chicago scored four runs. Ken Henderson gave Wood all the offense he needed with three run-scoring singles.

In the second game it was the Brewers who scored four times in the first inning. But the lead didn't last too long. Stein had a run-scoring single in Chicago's two-run second, then he unloaded his grand slam in the fourth after the White Sox had loaded the bases on a hit batsman and two singles.

Yanks 14-5, Twins 2-4

The Yanks lambasted Ray Corbin and four relievers for 17 hits in the opener, including two-run homers by Thurman Munson and Bobby Bonds and a solo shot by Roy White, who also smacked a two-run single.

Eric Soderholm's second RBI single put the Twins ahead 4-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap. But in the ninth, Munson tripled, Rick Dempsey singled him home, then Ed Herrmann delivered a gamewinning double to left-center.

Rangers 10-2, Red Sox 5-3

Tom Grieve and Lenny Randle drove in three runs apiece as Texas snapped the Red Sox' 10-game winning streak in the opener. In the second game, Cecil Cooper doubled and Rick Burleson singled him home with the Gordon Johncock had battled with Foyt and Sneva for the lead most of the way, but he dropped out with a broken engine 10 laps before the finish. The only other race leader was Mike Mosley, who was uninjured when his car spun into the wall.

Finishing behind Foyt and Sneva were Billie Vukovich, Pancho Carter — both of whom ran out of fuel as the race ended — and Bobby Unser.

Unser was third in the stock car race, followed by Jigger Sirois and Ramo Stott.

In Silverstone, England, Emerson Fittipaldi won the British Grand Prix in his McLaren to gain on over-all leader Niki Lauda of Austria in the world driving championship standings. Fittipaldi's victory at rain-soaked Silverstone Saturday put him in second place in the standings, 14 points behind Lauda with five races left.

Fittipaldi, the reigning world champ, was the only left on the course when the red flag, ending the race prematurely due to torrential rains, gave the Brazilian the victory.

Firestone CC Prepares For Auto Avalanche At PGA

AKRON — What do you do with an expected avalanche of 8,000 vehicles, including buses, campers, and vans as well as automobiles?

If you are Jack Border, parking chairman for the 57th PGA National Championship, you begin early with detailed planning, and then expect to spend 12 to 14 hours per day seeing that the plans are carried out to the letter.

The week of the PGA, August 4-10 at the Firestone Country Club, will be a challenge even for Border, one of the few men in the country with a wealth of experience in handling parking for major golf events.

"The prospects for a record-breaking crowd this year are pretty good. In fact, I'd say there's a very good chance we will break the previous Akron attendance record of 77,646, set during the 1973 American Golf Classic," Border said.

That means more work for Border and his crew of 35 which will be laboring behind the scenes as defending champion Lee Trevino and an elite field of 150 take aim at one of golf's most coveted titles.

"We're fortunate in having a great deal of public parking within a half-mile of the course here," said Border, who was parking chairman for the American Golf Classic the last four years.

One huge lot, located just west of the famous South Course, will handle close to 5,000 vehicles. Two additional lots, both within easy walking distance, bring the total capacity to near the 8,000 mark.

"The main lot is separated into two areas, both of which will be served by shuttle buses," Border noted. "Even if people come in late and park in the farthest reaches of the lot, the buses will drop them right at the gate."

It hasn't all been sunshine for Border, however, who has found one of the more interesting jobs as a volunteer working with major golf events.

"I remember the 1971 American Golf Classic very well," he said. "We had new uniforms — nice, sparkling white trousers, and white shoes."

"I was fine until a driver got his car stuck in the one little patch of mud, over in the corner of the lot. I went over to help out, and you can guess what happened. By the time we got the car out, the pants, shoes and everything else were solid mud," he chuckled.

Making Border's job somewhat easier is the fact that the Firestone Country Club is less than two miles from both Interstate 76 and 77.

Within a ten-mile radius of the club, directional signs along the Interstate routes will guide spectators to the course. And once off the interstate, local signs will provide direction to the parking areas by the quickest, most convenient route.

Border, a crew-cut 41-year-old, has the parking job down to a science.

A typical day begins at 6:30 or 7 a.m., making sure lots are clear and properly lined, that gates are manned and all is ready.

The earliest arrivals, many of them fellow volunteers, start the procession. Spectators begin arriving at 8 or 8:30, building gradually into a flood which requires split-second timing to handle properly.

"Our goal is to keep cars flowing into the lots as fast as possible, so that there are no tie-ups," he said.

Shortly after noon, the flood eases and for an hour or two, there is quiet. The process then reverses itself, beginning about 3 p.m., building again to a torrent as play finishes, usually between 5 and 6 p.m.

By 8 p.m., all but a few stragglers have departed, leaving Border and his crew to prepare for another day.

"It's one heck of a way to spend a vacation," he laughed.

Maltbie Wins Golf Contest

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — There was a little doubt — just the shadow of suspicion — in Roger Maltbie's mind after he'd won a golf tournament last week.

"When you win your first tournament," the square-jawed, 24-year-old rookie said, "you wonder if maybe it was an accident, if you'll ever win again."

That doubt has vanished.

"When you win your second," Maltbie said after winning again Sunday, "you know it wasn't a fluke. You've proved something to yourself. You've proved that you can win again."

And the young man who suddenly finds himself in the role of a budding sensation on the pro golf tour paused and smiled.

"I don't want to sound cocky, but now that I've proved I can win again, I want to win as many more as I can. I want to win again, and again, and again, and again."

"It wouldn't surprise me if I won two more tournaments before the year is over. I'll probably shoot 88 in my next start, but if I win two more, I won't be surprised."

Maltbie, a stocky, well-spoken product of San Jose, Calif., said he wasn't surprised at his come-from-behind victory Sunday in the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic, a triumph that made him the first tour rookie since Bob Murphy in 1968 to win consecutive tournaments.

He'd won the Quad Cities Open the week before and now joins the illustrious company of Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Hale Irwin and Tom Watson as the game's only multiple winners this season.

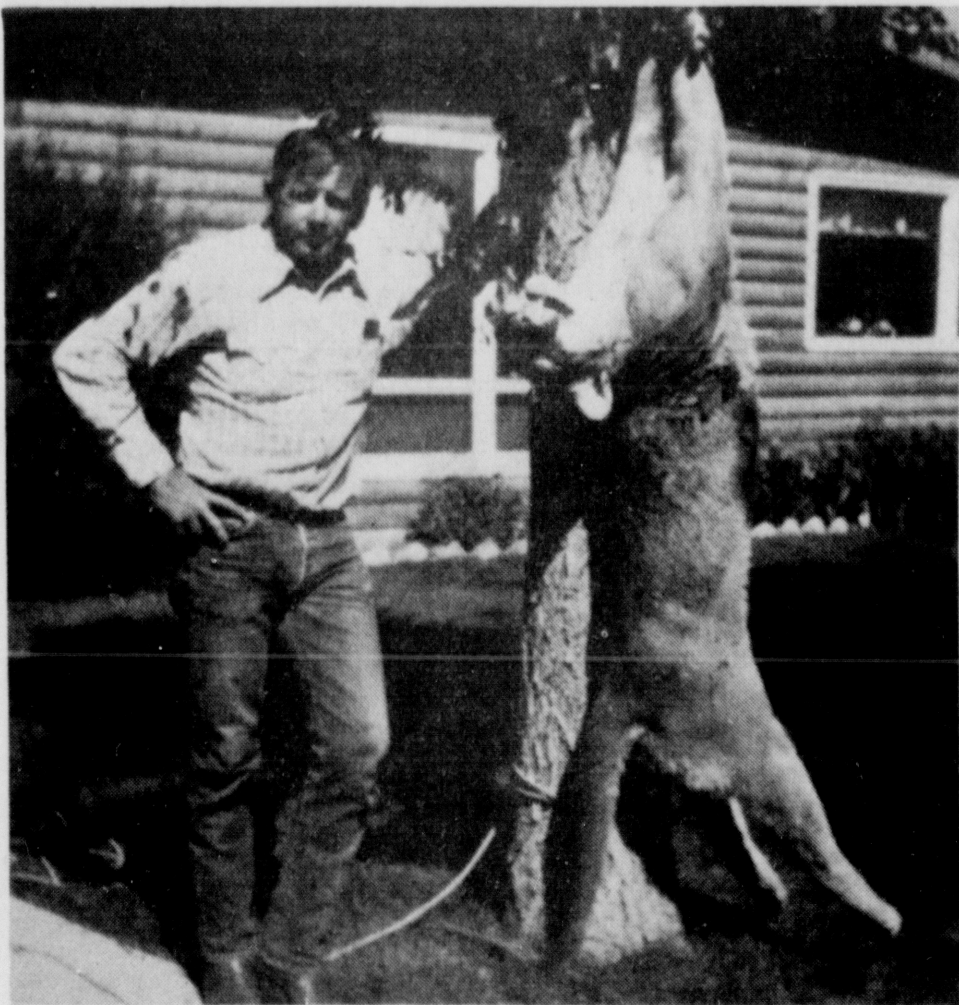

"That was a great thrill," Maltbie said. "But most of the really big players were playing in the British Open."

"This is a much bigger thrill. Some of them weren't here, but a lot of them were. That gives you a tremendous feeling, it's a tremendous lift to your confidence to beat players like this."

LION KILLER—Sherman Patrick, a native of Pickaway County who is now a government trapper in Wyoming, recently killed a 150-pound, 7-foot 5-inch puma which has been destroying sheep in the area for two years. Patrick has been a government trapper for 29 years but this is the first mountain lion he has killed or even seen outside of a zoo. It was killed near the Girl Scout National Center West which annually hosts over 3,000 girls from all over the nation. For this reason, Patrick could not use conventional trapping methods because they presented a hazard to the girls.

It was a good day, almost a great one, for Roger Penske. As far as Butch Hartman was concerned, though, he'd rather not talk about it.

Penske had two McLaren's entered in the Indianapolis car portion of the $100,000 twin 200-mile races Sunday at Michigan International Speedway, which he also owns. He had a highly competitive Matador in the 200-mile United States Auto Club stock car half of the doubleheader.

And in the stands were a record 52,000 paying customers.

The Matador finished second with veteran Bobby Allison at the wheel and young Tom Sneva ran a strong second in one of the McLaren's behind A.J. Foyt.

Hartman finished first in the stock car event, but the fourtime USAC stock king was disqualified when his Dodge was found to have a 24.2 gallon gas tank, two gallons over the legal limit.

That gave unheralded Terry Ryan, who had finished 23.8 seconds behind Hartman, his first victory ever.

In other racing Sunday, Cale Yarborough repeated as winner in the

Palmer Wins U.S. Women's Open Golf

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Sandra Palmer has placed her name alongside those of such famed women golfers as Babe Didrickson Zaharias, Mickey Wright, Patty Berg and Betsy Rawls as a winner of the U.S. Women's Open. But the tiny blonde from Texas says frankly: "I've never felt that I was really in that class."

The 34-year-old veteran counted five bogeys with five birdies for an even-par final round 72 Sunday and a 72-hole total of 295, seven-over-par on the Atlantic City Country Club course.

She coasted home with a four-stroke edge over 18-year-old amateur Nancy Lopez and pros JoAnne Carner and Sandra Post.

Miss Palmer took the lead for good on the ninth hole, but insisted, "I was fighting for my life out there. When you get a lead, you start feeling protective."

The 5-foot-1½ blonde from Fort Worth earned $8,044 to boost her season's earnings to nearly $65,000, tops on the tour.

Miss Palmer, who shot 78 in the first round but followed with 74-71-72, attributes her success to hard work.

"I was not a good player when I came on the tour. In fact, I was terrible."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, whose club began Sunday with a 12½-game lead in the National League West, could afford to be philosophical about his club's 11-4 loss to Philadelphia.

"The prospects for a record-breaking crowd this year are pretty good. In fact, I'd say there's a very good chance we will break the previous Akron attendance record of 77,646, set during the 1973 American Golf Classic," Border said.

That means more work for Border and his crew of 35 which will be laboring behind the scenes as defending champion Lee Trevino and an elite field of 150 take aim at one of golf's most coveted titles.

"We're fortunate in having a great deal of public parking within a half-mile of the course here," said Border, who was parking chairman for the American Golf Classic the last four years.

One huge lot, located just west of the famous South Course, will handle close to 5,000 vehicles. Two additional lots, both within easy walking distance, bring the total capacity to near the 8,000 mark.

"The main lot is separated into two areas, both of which will be served by shuttle buses," Border noted. "Even if people come in late and park in the farthest reaches of the lot, the buses will drop them right at the gate."

It hasn't all been sunshine for Border, however, who has found one of the more interesting jobs as a volunteer working with major golf events.

"I remember the 1971 American Golf Classic very well," he said. "We had new uniforms — nice, sparkling white trousers, and white shoes."

"I was fine until a driver got his car stuck in the one little patch of mud, over in the corner of the lot. I went over to help out, and you can guess what happened. By the time we got the car out, the pants, shoes and everything else were solid mud," he chuckled.

Making Border's job somewhat easier is the fact that the Firestone Country Club is less than two miles from both Interstate 76 and 77.

Within a ten-mile radius of the club, directional signs along the Interstate routes will guide spectators to the course. And once off the interstate, local signs will provide direction to the parking areas by the quickest, most convenient route.

Border, a crew-cut 41-year-old, has the parking job down to a science.

A typical day begins at 6:30 or 7 a.m., making sure lots are clear and properly lined, that gates are manned and all is ready.

The earliest arrivals, many of them fellow volunteers, start the procession. Spectators begin arriving at 8 or 8:30, building gradually into a flood which requires split-second timing to handle properly.

"Our goal is to keep cars flowing into the lots as fast as possible, so that there are no tie-ups," he said.

Shortly after noon, the flood eases and for an hour or two, there is quiet. The process then reverses itself, beginning about 3 p.m., building again to a torrent as play finishes, usually between 5 and 6 p.m.

By 8 p.m., all but a few stragglers have departed, leaving Border and his crew to prepare for another day.

"It's one heck of a way to spend a vacation," he laughed.

Maltbie Wins Golf Contest

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — There was a little doubt — just the shadow of suspicion — in Roger Maltbie's mind after he'd won a golf tournament last week.

"When you win your first tournament," the square-jawed, 24-year-old rookie said, "you wonder if maybe it was an accident, if you'll ever win again."

That doubt has vanished.

"When you win your second," Maltbie said after winning again Sunday, "you know it wasn't a fluke. You've proved something to yourself. You've proved that you can win again."

And the young man who suddenly finds himself in the role of a budding sensation on the pro golf tour paused and smiled.

"I don't want to sound cocky, but now that I've proved I can win again, I want to win as many more as I can. I want to win again, and again, and again, and again."

"It wouldn't surprise me if I won two more tournaments before the year is over. I'll probably shoot 88 in my next start, but if I win two more, I won't be surprised."

Maltbie, a stocky, well-spoken product of San Jose, Calif., said

Springfield Man Drowns In Reservoir

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Divers were to resume searching today for the body of Russell C. Hawke Jr., 49, of Springfield, who apparently drowned in the Clarence J. Brown reservoir east of here early Sunday.

Witnesses said Hawke's boat had slipped off the trailer and he went into the water after it. He called for help before disappearing, but none of the bystanders could swim.

It was the third drowning this season in the reservoir, known locally as Lake Lagonda. The new dam and reservoir opened on Memorial Day.

Sidney Man Drowns In Strongsville Pool

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Strongsville police said a Findlay College student, Michael Berner of Sidney, drowned early Sunday in a swimming pool at a Strongsville motel.

Members of the family said Berner, 20, was in Cleveland for the wedding of a college friend. Police said he had gone swimming with a group of friends.

Class Marks Fall In SCCA Contests

LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Six Ohio drivers set new class records Sunday in the Sports Car Club of America SuperNationals on the twisting 2.4-mile Mid-Ohio racing circuit here.

Leading the record-setters was Roger Bighouse of Eastlake, setting a new mark of 94.156 m.p.h. in his Chevron B24 in winning the formula 5000 race.

Bighouse also drove a Jaguar XK-E in a C Production race, but finished second behind Datsun-driving Logan Blackburn of Indianapolis.

Jim Sherman of Seven Hills sped to an 85.71 m.p.h. record lap early in the B Production event and looked like a sure winner, but was sidelined by a flat tire and Howard Park of Lexington, Ky., went on to win.

Two Ohio drivers set new class records in the first race of the day for Showroom Stock Sedans and Stock Sports Cars. T. King-Hedinger of Berea drove his SSC Porsche 914 to a 67.278 m.p.h. lap and Dr. Don Baumgartner of Moreland Hills drove a VW Scirocco to a 66.289 best effort in the SSS class.

Jim Trueman of Columbus broke his own record in the C Sports-Racing class with an 87.36 m.p.h. lap in his Bobsy SR6.

Dan Pohlman of Englewood, Ohio, conquered a very strong field in the F Production class with his Triumph Spitfire and turned in a record 79.27 m.p.h. lap.

A massive pileup at the start of the Formula Ford race eliminated four of the fastest cars, but none of the drivers was hurt. Out of the race were Dave Weitzenhof of Bath, Ohio, Tim Evans of Northville, Mich., Larry Wood of Columbus, Ohio, and Dan Torpy of Adelphi, Md.

B.J. Swanson of Bristol, Ind., threaded his Lola racer through the clutter of cars with only damage to his nosepiece and went on to win the race.

Other winners, all Ohioans, were Bill Koch of Columbus in E Production in his MG-B, Dan Carmichael of Columbus in Formula B, Bill Niemeyer of Cincinnati in Showroom Stock Sedan with an Opel, Martin Dedenhoff of Cleveland in A Production with a Sprite and Keith Bowman of Jackson in the B Sedan with a Datsun 510.

Mets Top Astros, 10-9

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Dave Kingman came off the field after going three-for-five, belting two home runs, driving in six runs and getting his 12th game-winning hit.

Dave Kingman was mad. "Hey, who gave me that error?" bellowed Kingman. "That should have been an error on the shortstop."

Kingman is a hard man to please. You'd think that after hitting a three-run homer in the fifth and two-run belt in the eighth to lift the Mets past Houston 10-9 Sunday, he'd be a happy man. But he preferred to talk about a ground ball in the third which shortstop Jack Heidemann threw to first and Kingman dropped for an error.

NFL Holdouts Still Unsigned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The annual stumbling block of contract disputes, led by controversial Washington running back Duane Thomas, was in evidence over the weekend as attendance at National Football League training camps rose to capacity levels.

The seasonal axe also began to fall, with unwanted rookies, free agents and vets beginning their slow lumber into the phantom zone: the released lists.

Thomas, who reportedly wants a $168,000-a-year contract, was one of two veterans missing Sunday as the Washington Redskins got their camp under way, the other being newly acquired tight end Marv Fleming.

Coach George Allen ordered that Thomas not be permitted to practice in the Redskins camp at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., until he signs, because he became a free agent May 1.

The Washington Post reported that Thomas, who rarely played in his first year with Washington in 1973 and gained only 347 yards in 95 carries with six touchdowns last season, earned about $80,000 in 1974.

Reports of this year's salary offers by the Redskins were conflicting. The Washington Star said Thomas was offered $60,000, with the Redskins prepared to go as high as $80,000, while the Post put the figure at $84,000.

Thomas met with Redskins' President Edward Bannett Williams in Washington on Friday and said another meeting is scheduled with the Redskins this week, but it could not be confirmed.

Fleming, formerly signed to Miami but traded last month, is also holding out.

Meanwhile, holdout quarterback Joe Namath showed up at the New York Jets' camp Sunday to pick up a playbook, but the superstar free agent gave no firm word as to when he might be officially reporting.

Ellis On Way Out From Tribe Ballclub

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indian Manager Frank Robinson and Tribe General Manager Phil Seghi were to discuss John Ellis' future today and it looks grim.

"He will never become the regular catcher no matter what he does," said Robinson, after Sunday's game. "It's a mutual agreement. He says he can't play for me and I agree."

"John is used to doing whatever he wants to do. He doesn't like authority. He hasn't been honest with me. He feels like I've second guessed him and even in the dugout he thinks we're talking about him when I talk with the coaches."

"The throw was bad," Kingman claimed. "It should have been Heidemann's error."

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia clubbed Cincinnati 11-4; Los Angeles beat Chicago 5-3 in 12 innings; Atlanta edged Montreal 5-4 in a suspended game before the Expos won the regularly scheduled contest 6-5 in 11 innings; San Francisco and Pittsburgh split, the Giants winning 2-1 and the Pirates coming back 7-1, and St. Louis swept a pair from San Diego 3-1 in 11 innings and 10-2.

Bob Watson belted a pair of two-run singles to help the Astros take a 9-6 lead into the bottom of the eighth. But doubles by Jesus Alou and Felix Millan chased Houston starter Dave Roberts and brought in Wayne Granger. Joe Torre singled to make it 9-8, then Kingman unloaded his second homer of the game and 18th of the season to give New York the victory.

Phils 11, Reds 4

Mike Schmidt drove in four runs with a single and his 19th homer of the season for the Phils. Philadelphia took a 4-0 lead against loser Clay Kirby in the first on five walks, an error by first baseman Tony Perez and Schmidt's single. Rookie Tom Underwood, 10-7, got the win.

Dodgers 5, Cubs 3

John Hale's two-out, two-run homer in the 12th lifted Los Angeles to victory. Reliever Mike Marshall, 6-7, was the winner. Bill Madlock drove in a pair of runs for Chicago with a single and his fourth homer of the season.

Braves 5-5, Expos 4-6

The Braves won the suspended game on the strength of two-run homers by Darrell Evans and Dave May. The game was called by rain May 15 with Atlanta leading 4-1 in the fourth, but the Braves protested that the umpires hadn't waited long enough for the rain to go away. NL President Chub Feeney agreed and ordered the game continued.

Montreal got revenge in the nightcap when Pete Mackanin singled home the winning run in the 11th inning.

Giants 2-1, Pirates 1-7

Ed Halicki, 4-6, fired a twohitter and scored the first San Francisco run. Halicki doubled in the eighth off loser Jim Rooker, 7-5, and scored on Von Joshua's triple. Bobby Murcer singled home Joshua. Manny Sanguillan

Last Tango Winner Of River Downs Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Brance and Kee Lem are top weighted at 122 pounds today in the \$6,500 featured seventh race at River Downs over 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ furlongs on the turf for three-year-olds.

Last Tango won the $4,500 featured ninth race Sunday, covering the mile and 70 yards in 1:46 and paid $5.66, $3.20 and $4.

Mook placed, $3.60 and $2.60 and Poise Plus as third, $4.

The 10-3 daily double of Box It and Lloyd's Skipper returned $34.40 and the crowd of 7,814 bet $682,844.

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Phil Boggs begins defense of his world springboard diving championships today with his coach, Micki King, on the sidelines instead of the diving board.

Capt. King, an officer at the Air Force Academy, retired as Olympic platform diving champion after the 1972 Olympics. Now she gets her pleasure from other people's gold medals, namely Lt. Boggs'.

homered in the ninth for Pittsburgh.

The Pirates came back in the nightcap with five runs in the eighth inning, two of them on Richie Zisk's home run. Ken Brett, 6-2, was the winning pitcher and contributed an RBI single.

Cardinals 3-10, Padres 1-2

Ron Fairly's two-run double in the 11th gave St. Louis reliever Al Hrabosky, 7-2, the victory in the opener. Ted Simmons singled home the first Cardinal run and Hector Torres drove in the San Diego score.

The second game was Cardinals all the way as Mike Tyson drove in four runs with three hits and Buddy Bradford hit a three-run double. John Curtis, 6-7, won it with a five-hitter.

Ohio Legion Pushes Tough Firearms Law

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio members of the American Legion, in convention here this weekend, called for mandatory jail terms for persons who commit felonies while in possession of firearms.

But the 12,000-member Ohio organization reaffirmed its traditional opposition to gun control laws and said it will continue to oppose any such legislation at the local, state and national levels.

Acting on various position statements in Dayton's convention center, delegates to the state conclave came out against relinquishing control of the Panama Canal and the teaching of Marxist philosophy in schools. The resolution noted that a course in Marxist thought already is being taught at the University of Minnesota.

Pat Hone, state adjutant, said the delegates approved another resolution asking for an increase of 11 per cent in Veterans Administration pensions but asserted pension hikes should not be deducted from Social Security benefits.

The delegates further advocated free auto license plates for veterans totally disabled by service-connected injuries.

A parade through the streets of downtown Dayton highlighted the legionnaires' Friday through Sunday morning meeting.

During the closing session Sunday, delegates elected W. Dean Scholl of Columbus as the new state commander. First vice commander is Robert L. Klipstine of West Milton, second vice commander is Melvin D. Chapman of Beverly and James Forsythe of Tallmadge was elected treasurer.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to details, efficient planning and good follow-through. Avoid making rash promises.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): The Taurean's obstinacy is legendary, but don't get into arguments now — especially with superiors. You'll come out a loser.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Shut no doors abruptly or you'll regret it. Such action is not like you but, on a challenging day such as this, you COULD step out of character.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You are an innately cautious person, at times even too conservative, but with the unusual offerings likely to come your way just now, it would pay to be a bit more daring. Let yourself go!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Investigate all angles of any new proposition offered, but don't fear the unknown; just get better acquainted with its possibilities — or lack of them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Persistence will be the key to advancing your personal plans. Keep trying and friends will rally 'round and give their support.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you have been planning any changes in your home or property, now is a good time to start making them. Family will not only approve — but will help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Friends will be especially helpful now — especially in being able to supply some much-needed data. They will also be able to give you certain objective insights which will prove invaluable in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good day for finalizing agreements. Some unusual background activity will provide the spark that hurries matters through more quickly than expected.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take nothing for granted now and avoid jumping to conclusions. What seems a certainty could be otherwise. One more admonition: Don't try to force issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Routine and detail work will probably bore you now, so get busy on a creative project you've had in mind for some time. Influences stimulate original ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A better day for completing old projects than for beginning new ones. In leisure time, devote yourself to a creative hobby.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most idealistic of all Cancerians; progressive in your methods and usually far ahead of the times in your thinking. You would probably be unhappy in the world of business and commercialism for you tend to become disillusioned when pursuing strictly material goals. On the other hand, you find happiness in directing your lofty ideals — and ideas — toward the creative. Translate them into books, musical compositions or images on canvas and there is no limit to the heights you can attain. Birthdate of: A. Ashley Cooper, Eng. statesman.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two weeks from today, a new show called "Radio Playhouse" will make its national debut, offering two soap operas, a light comedy and adaptations of novels and plays in serial form.

All this will happen in an hour, five days a week, for at least 26 weeks on radio stations in an anticipated 60 markets from New York to San Jose, Calif., according to the makers of the program.

"Radio Playhouse," produced here by a division of Young and Rubicam, a major advertising agency, is the latest of recent attempts to make a limited revival of the golden age of radio drama and comedy.

It'll have an uphill fight. The revival track record isn't good.

The Mutual Broadcasting System gave such shows a go in December 1973 with "Zero Hour," a half-hour weekday thriller series. But it says the response was disappointing and it took it off the air in July last year.

The satirical National Lampoon magazine tried its hand in November 1973 with a weekly radio comedy series sold on a syndicated basis, but that also fell by the wayside. The last show was broadcast on Dec. 28, 1974.

The only major survivor of the revival effort is the "CBS Radio Mystery Theater," an hour-long, seven-nights-a-week series that began on Jan. 6, 1974, and now is heard on 214 stations, CBS says.

Despite the attrition rate, Richard Cox, creator and executive producer of "Radio Playhouse," still believes his show has a good chance. Oddly enough, it came to be because of a sponsor's gripe. Cox, a self-described radio nut who heads Y & R Ventures, a subsidiary of Young and Rubicam, said the project took form two years ago during a lunch he was having with officials of Bristol-Myers Products, a client of his advertising agency.

"They'd been complaining about the costs of TV, so I said, 'Hey, why not radio?'" the 46-year-old executive said. "I didn't have anything in mind, but by the end of the lunch I'd made up the whole thing — two soaps, the adaptation of a famous novel or play and the comedy.

"And they said, 'That sounds great.' And that's how it started."

He said the show is being offered free to stations on a "barter" basis in which Bristol-Myers will get six minutes of commercial time during the show and local stations 12 minutes.

Cleveland Browns Workout Cut Short

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns' first workout at their new football training headquarters here Sunday was cut short because of rain, and Coach Forrest Gregg held up assessment of the squad until today.

"I guess I'm not experienced enough yet to keep the rain away," Gregg said.

It'll have an uphill fight. The revival track record isn't good.

The Mutual Broadcasting System gave such shows a go in December 1973 with "Zero Hour," a half-hour weekday thriller series. But it says the response was disappointing and it took it off the air in July last year.

The satirical National Lampoon magazine tried its hand in November 1973 with a weekly radio comedy series sold on a syndicated basis, but that also fell by the wayside. The last show was broadcast on Dec. 28, 1974.

The only major survivor of the revival effort is the "CBS Radio Mystery Theater," an hour-long, seven-nights-a-week series that began on Jan. 6, 1974, and now is heard on 214 stations, CBS says.

Despite the attrition rate, Richard Cox, creator and executive producer of "Radio Playhouse," still believes his show has a good chance. Oddly enough, it came to be because of a sponsor's gripe.

Cox, a self-described radio nut who heads Y & R Ventures, a subsidiary of Young and Rubicam, said the project took form two years ago during a lunch he was having with officials of Bristol-Myers Products, a client of his advertising agency.

"They'd been complaining about the costs of TV, so I said, 'Hey, why not radio?'" the 46-year-old executive said. "I didn't have anything in mind, but by the end of the lunch I'd made up the whole thing — two soaps, the adaptation of a famous novel or play and the comedy."

"And they said, 'That sounds great.' And that's how it started."

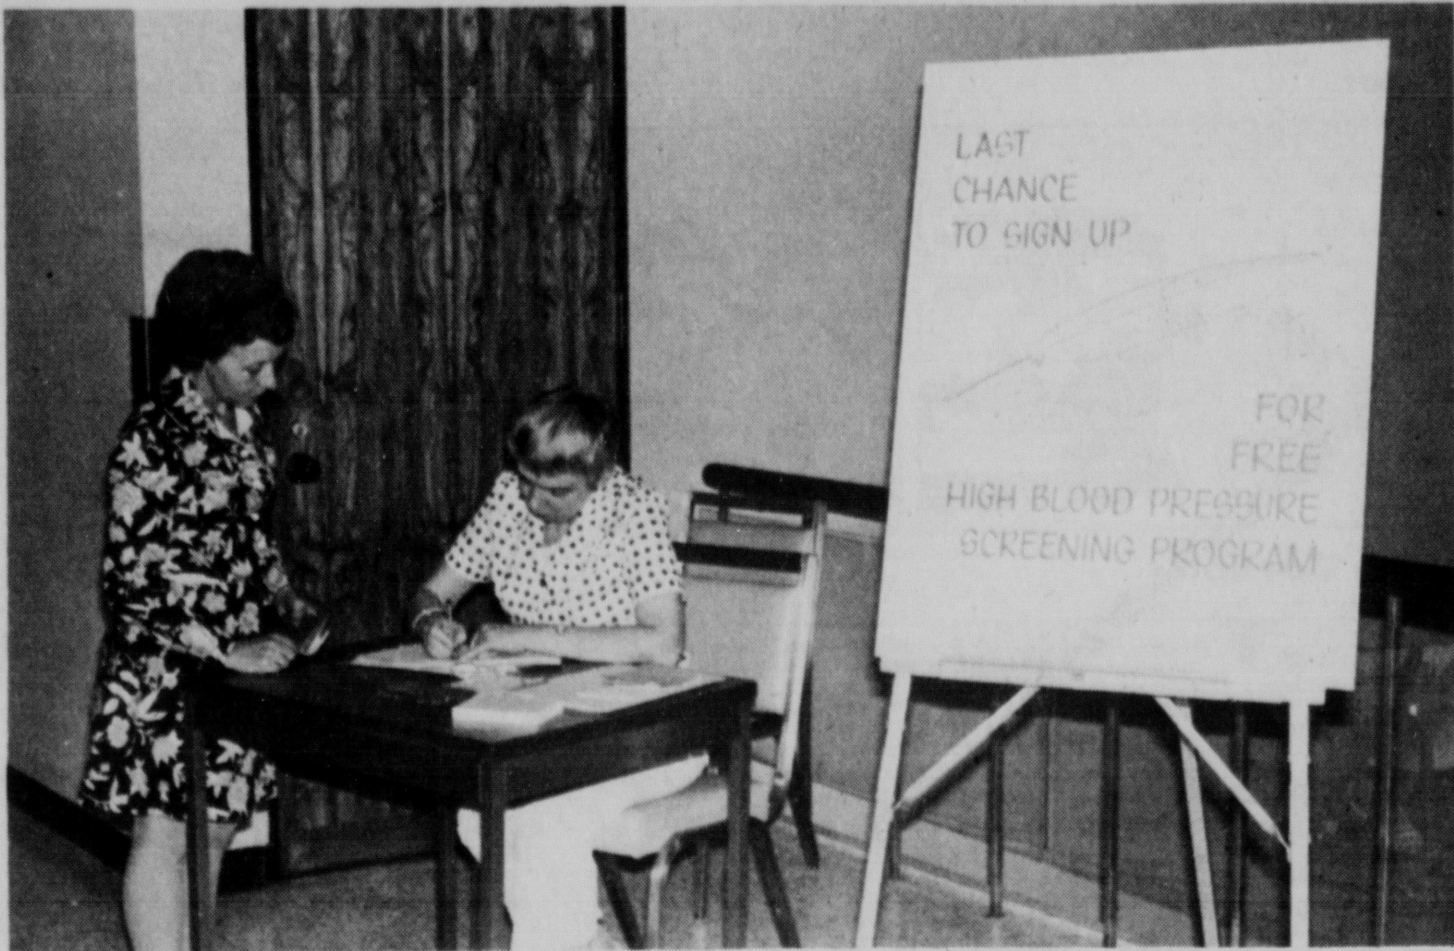

He said the show is being offered free to stations on a "barter" basis in which Bristol-Myers will get six minutes of commercial time during the show and local stations 12 minutes.

Cleveland Browns Workout Cut Short

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns' first workout at their new football training headquarters here Sunday was cut short because of rain, and Coach Forrest Gregg held up assessment of the squad until today.

"I guess I'm not experienced enough yet to keep the rain away," Gregg said.

BATTELLE EMPLOYEES at Columbus Laboratories aren't fooling around with their health — 767 employees including one area woman E. Joyce Carr of Orient, (standing) took advantage of Franklin County Heart Branch's free high blood pressure screening program. Shown taking her registration is Billie Suter of Columbus. Of those persons screened 8 per cent were asked to return for a second check before possible referral to a physician for diagnosis and evaluation. The Heart Association reminds the public that identifying and controlling high blood pressure is a means of reducing the risk of heart attack and stroke.

Kent State Testimony Continues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Testimony of a photographer who pulled a gun on the Kent State University slope where 13 students were shot five years ago was to be read today to a federal jury.

Subpoenas from federal court in the northern district of Ohio are good for only 100 miles. The photographer, Terry Norman, is a policeman in Washington D.C. and declined to appear.

Attorneys for the victims of the 1970 Kent State shootings were expected to read from Norman's answers to their questions.

Then lawyers defending present or former state officials and Ohio National Guardsmen from $46 million in damage claims were to follow with their questions and Norman's answers.

A former student who witnessed the shooting, Charles Deegan, told the jury last month he saw Norman pull the gun out from under his sport coat after another student objected strongly to having his picture taken.

The jury then watched an NBC television film of Norman being chased down the hills to the guardsmen's lines. There a campus policeman checked the weapon.

The policeman, Harold Rice, told the panel of seven men and five women deciding the damages suit that Norman's weapon had not been fired recently.

County To Receive Welfare Money

Pickaway County will receive $9,457.17 in welfare assistance money in the June distribution of $5,229,923.71, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

The money helps the counties cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations. This portion of the money is derived primarily from state and partially from county revenue.

The remaining total is reimbursement to the counties for administering and purchasing family and children services such as day care, family planning and marital counseling programs. Such revenue comes from both federal and state funds.

Farmers Union

Opposes SB 170

Willard England, president of the Pickaway County Farmers Union, discussed Senate Bill 170 concerning personal property tax at a recent meeting of the organization held at Gold Cliff Park.

The Farmers Union is opposed to the bill because it would add more tax burden to the farmer. It was announced a young adult seminar will be held Aug. 8-9-10 at Bellefontaine.

Fourteen members attended the meeting. A covered dish dinner was held.

Authorities Investigate Accidents

Twenty-year-old Michael R. Pettibone, Route 1, Ashville, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for contusions and lacerations sustained in a single-car accident, 2:50 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Dan Dewey, Pettibone was eastbound on Route 316 approaching the Scioto River Bridge when he attempted to complete a curve.

The auto traveled off the pavement and struck a guardrail. Continuing over an embankment the vehicle came to rest after striking several small trees.

No citation was issued. Tony Curtis Grandstaff, 18, Lancaster, was cited by Deputy Billy Huffman for driving left of center when he struck a car driven by Keith M. Hoffhines, 20, Route 3, 6:45 a.m. today.

Hoffhines was traveling east on Route 752 rounding a curve when Grandstaff, who was westbound, traveled left of center forcing Hoffhines off the road into a ditch.

No injuries were reported.

Rose Kennedy Says Teddy Out

HYANNISPORT, Mass. (AP) — Rose Kennedy, mother of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, says she can foresee no circumstances that might persuade her son to run for president in 1976.

"Teddy has taken himself out of the presidential candidacy," she said in an interview published Sunday in a Boston newspaper, the Sunday Herald Advertiser.

"There is no point in discussing politics since Teddy has taken himself out of the presidential thing," Mrs. Kennedy said.

All-Ohio State Fair Girls' Band New Feature

The 1975 Ohio State Fair will feature something new this year — the All-Ohio State Fair Girls' Band, which is comprised of 150 ladies from the best of Ohio's high school bands.

General Fair Manager John F. Evans announced that the Girls' Band, under the direction of Omar P. Blackman of Cleveland, will perform daily at the Fair from Aug. 21 through Sept. 1, along with three other musical groups, the All-Ohio State Fair Youth Symphony, the All-Ohio State Fair Youth Choir, and the All-Ohio State Fair Boys' Band.

The Ohio State Fair Boys' Band, also under the direction of Omar P. Blackman, will mark the 49th year the band has appeared at the Ohio State Fair. This year the band will be composed of 150 young men selected on the basis of individual talent, and participation and achievement in high school music programs.

This year, the Boys' Band accepted an invitation to the Cotton Bowl Festival Parade in Dallas, Texas on New Year's Day.

Many times during the Fair, the Boys' Band and the newly organized Girls' Band will combine to form the 300 member "All-Ohio State Fair Band."

For the thirteenth year the Ohio State Fair will feature the All-Ohio State Fair Youth Choir, directed by Glenville Thomas.

The 350-member Youth Choir, which tours internationally throughout the summer, will be holding impromptu concerts at various locations as well as scheduled performances during the Fair.

The group has previously entertained at the White House and this year, the Youth Choir appeared in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Los Angeles, Calif., on New Year's Day.

The Ohio State Fair 200-piece Youth Symphony orchestra will mark its 11th successive year at the '75 State Fair, Your Ticket to Fun, under the direction of Robert Martin of Cincinnati.

The symphony is composed of outstanding high school age boys and girls selected from throughout Ohio on the basis of their musical ability and accomplishments.

These groups, as well as various high school bands parading through the Fair daily, will be part of the free entertainment package which will highlight the 122nd Ohio State Fair.

Liquor Control Rejects Application

Clifford E. Reich, Director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, rejected an application for liquor permits D-1-2 at Gold Cliff Park Restaurant, owned by Thomas and Lula Smith, Route 1.

The permit was rejected July 10 with the departmental investigation disclosing that, 1) pursuant to provisions of law, the department is required to conduct a complete investigation of the applicant and of the premises in order to determine the advisability of issuing the applied for permit; 2) the applicant is doing business in connection with a retail gasoline outlet, owned by Gold Cliff Park, Inc., and that the sale of alcoholic beverages at this location would encourage and facilitate the operation of motor vehicles by intoxicated persons; 3) the department finds the approval of this application would result in a substantial prejudice to public decency, sobriety and good order. The department is without authority to take such action.

The department did note that there is an opening under the law for subject application.

TOTAL SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

Everything you buy at Kroger is guaranteed for your total satisfaction regardless of manufacturer. If you are not satisfied, Kroger will replace your item with the same brand or a comparable brand or refund your money. We also guarantee that we will do everything in our power to have ample supplies of all advertised specials on our shelves when you shop for them. If, due to conditions beyond our control, we run out of an advertised special, we will substitute the same item in a comparable brand (when such an item is available) reflecting the same savings or, if you prefer, give you a "RAIN CHECK" which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same special price any time within 30 days.
